Sub Trapped Below Atlantic Ocean

Hopes Dim for Four Scientists

THE LAUNCHING—The mini-sub Johnson-Sea-Link is shown as it is being launched in January of 1971. (UPI Telephoto)

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A fourth attempt to rescue four men trapped in mini research submarine on the floor of the Atlantic failed today. Officials expresed grave concern for the men's safety.

"We must get to that sub" said Lieutenant Commander R. H. Bisbing a Navy spokesman. "We hope the men can survive."

The four—two of them reportedly unconscious in a rear compartment of the sub — were on their last emergency supply of oxygen and Bisbing said a new attempt to reach them could take several hours.

At first, Navy officials believed the men, whose research sub was wedged in the wreckage of a World War II destroyer, had enough air to last until this afternoon. But later a spokesman said "now, it looks like it may be even shorter than that."

Among those trapped was Clayton Link, son of of the sub's designer, Edwin Link.

David Stover, 21, son of Albert Stover, said his father was trapped in the rear compartment of the sub with Link.

"The last I heard he (Stover) was unconscious and that was about 8 a.m. today," Stover said.

In the front compartment of the experimental craft were Archibald "Jock" Menzies, a native of Scotland with a home in Vero Beach, Fla., the sub's pilot-commander; and Robert Meek, 27, a diver and submarine pilot from West Palm Beach, Fla.

Rescuers were faced with the prospect of having to draw on the vital oxygen supply to increase the temperature in the submarine and enable chemical cannisters to absorb more carbon dioxide.

Asked about the buildup of carbon dioxide in the back section of the vessel, a Navy spokesman described is as "a baby putting a plastic bag over its head and slowly being strangled."

Shortly after daybreak Cmdr. William Smith said there had been radio contact with two men in the front of the sub and they had reported the men in the rear were still breathing.

"But there is still no response from the two in the back," Smith said, explaining this indicated the two were unconscious.

Smith said "the criitcal thing is not the air supply but amassing carbon dioxide. The colder it gets the less effective the chemical absorption is."

Adm. John Maurer, commander of Key West Naval Station, said two teams of divers had been down, one to within 10 feet of the sub. But "neither one was able to completely reach the submarine because of the wreckage involved and they were in danger of entangling themselves."

The elder Link was helping to direct the rescue attempts 20 miles east of Key West.

Link, who was aboard the Sea Diver, mother ship of the minisub, alerted the Coast Guard to the emergency Sunday morning.

The first attempt to lower an air compression bell chamber with two divers aboard in an effort to free the craft believed trapped in cables dangling from the wreck of the USS Fred T. Berry failed.

"One of the divers had a problem with his mask and they had to bring the bell up after it reached 160 feet," a Navy spokesman said.

It was the first operational test for the bell, an aluminum chamber topped with a plastic bubble designed to give the divers a panoramic view of the situation.

The submarine became trapped about 10 a.m. Sunday while it was on a fishing research expedition for the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C. The trapped men, in addition to the younger Link, are Archibald "Jock" Menzies of Scotland, the sub's pilot-commander; and Robert Meek, 27, a marine biologist from Santa Barbara, Calif., and Albert Stover, a diver and submarine pilot from West Palm Beach, Fla. Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Bisbing said early today the trapped men had reported a rise in the carbon dioxide level.

The old destroyer was scuttled a year ago as part of a program to build an artificial reef. The sub crew had just started studying fish around the reef when they became ensnared.

Navy officials said divers were working to almost the extreme limits of depths for surface-tended divers.

"Due to these depths, the extreme chill factor below the 300-foot level on and the debris encountered surrounding the destroyer the divers are extremely hampered in this difficult rescue mission," Maurer said.

Navy men also loaded a second minisub on a full-size submarine for transport to the rescue site.

New Nuclear Treaty Goal of Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon welcomed Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to the White House today for the start of a summit conference U.S. sources said could lead to the signing within 12 to 18 months of a new treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

The White House staff arranged a 21-gun salute and red carpet treatment for Brezhnev's arrival at the Executive Mansion from Camp David, Md., where the Communist party leader had rested since his Saturday arrival in the United States from Moscow. Nixon completed preparations for the summit at Key Biscayne, Fla., over the weekend, returning to Washington Sunday night.

Tight security arrangements were in effect, a concession to a series of demonstrations arranged to protest Brezhnev's visit. A rally at the U.S. Capitol Sunday drew an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 American Jews who showed their disapproval of Russian emigration policies by chanting "Let my people go!"

The summit meeting was criticized Sunday by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who said he feared Brezhnev would "take advantage of Mr. Nixon" because of the atmosphere of the Watergate scandals. Jackson said he was afraid that Nixon "might try to do something melodramatic" in order to draw attention away from Watergate.

However, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who often is at odds with the White House, said he felt Nixon made the "right decision" in proceeding with the summit because of its promise of reducing world tensions.

U.S. officials were hopeful the summit would lead to a relatively quick breakthrough in strategic weapons talks. Informed sources said the talks could result in a treaty within 12 to 18 months limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

They declined to supply details but conceded that such an agreement could place restrictions on the deployment of multiple nuclear warheads (MIRVs) in which the United States currently holds an advantage.

The strategic arms agreements which Nixon and Brezhnev concluded at last year's summit conference in Moscow provided that the United States and the Soviet Union should negotiate new limitations on offensive nuclear weapons by 1977.

Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's national security affairs advisor, told newsmen last week at a White House press conference that he anticipated the summit would result in an announcement which would prove to be a "turning point" in the talks at Geneva.

Brezhnev will remain in the United States until next Monday. He and Nixon were expected to discuss a wide range of subjects, including disarmament, trade, the Middle East and Vietnam, at their first working session from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. today. A state dinner was scheduled at the White House tonight.

Further talks are planned Tuesday in Washington, and the two leaders will move to the Camp David retreat for talks Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday, they will travel to the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif. Brezhnev plans a one-half hour address to the American people from San Clemente Saturday. The Soviet leader returns to Camp David Sunday before leaving the United States Monday.

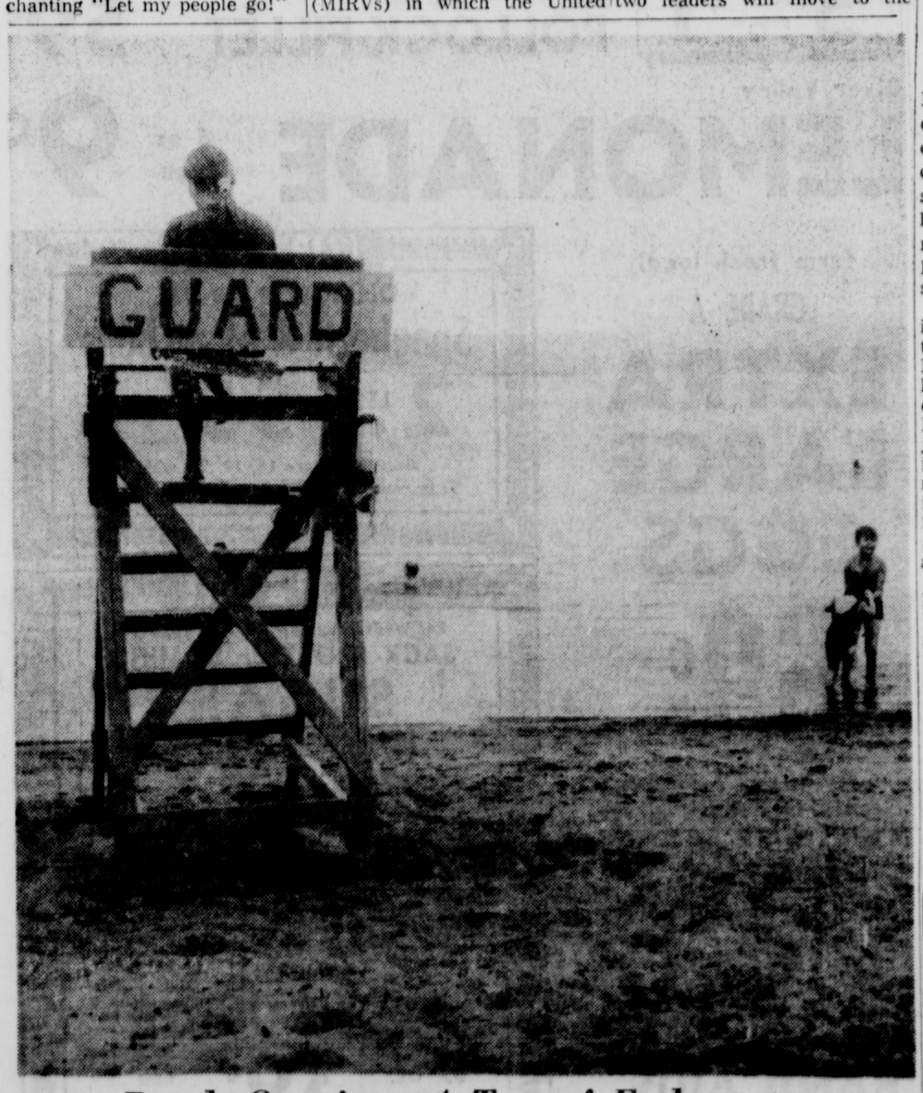

The talks were expected to result in a series of agreements including a new, expanded civil air pact which will permit Pan American airlines to operate passenger flights to Leningrad and Moscow, and the Soviet airlines, Aeroflot, to land at Washington and New York.

The present agreement permits the two airlines to pick up and discharge passengers only at New York and Moscow.

Diplomatic sources said that the two sides would sign a new agreement on scientific cooperation which would be "a cut above" other Soviet-American cooperative arrangements.

Nixon to Claim 'Misinformation'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is expected to defend himself from allegations of involvement in the coverup of the Watergate affair by saying he was misinformed by his former chief deputies, news reports attributed to White House and other government sources said today.

The Washington Post said in its morning editions it had been told by the sources the President no longer will broadly claim noninvolvement in the case. Instead, the reports said, Nixon will acknowledge misjudgments on his part and indicate they resulted from misinformation and unauthorized action by former Chief of Staff H.R. "Bob" Haldeman and former domestic affairs advisor John D. Ehrlichman.

The Post story, written by Pulitizer prize winners Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, said the strategy was designed to counter charges by John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel. Dean reportedly is ready to testify that Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman knowingly participated in the coverup of Watergate and other illegal intelligence gathering operations.

Dean becomes a witness at the televised Senate Watergate Committee hearings when they resume Tuesday morning. He was interviewed for five hours under oath by committee attorneys Saturday and was expected to repeat his testimony to a closed meeting of the seven-member committee today.

Sources close to the Senate investigation told UPI Sunday Dean had told the committee staff he "assumed" the President was aware of the Watergate coverup within weeks of the bugging because he reported on it regularly to Haldeman and Ehrlichman. But the sources also said Dean testified he himslf did not discuss aspects of the coverup personally with Nixon until last March.

Both Haldeman and Ehrlichman resigned from the White House April 30, the same day Dean was fired. That night, Nixon in a televised address described Haldeman and Ehrlichman as "two of the finest public servants" he had ever known.

Martha Mitchell claims President Nixon "always knew what was going on." Story on page 3.

The Post in its account said it informed John J. Wilson, attorney for Haldeman and Ehrlichman, of the President's reported change of position, and Wilson replied, "what's he (the President) been doing for us lately?" Wilson reasserted the innocence of his clients and said he had not heard of the President's reported change in position.

The newspaper quoted one White House source as saying, "if the Dean charges are too devastating and there is no reason to think they won't be, the President plans to come forward and acknowledge overwhelming negligence on his part but will still deny criminal knowledge." The account said charges by Dean and others against Haldeman and Ehrlichman have convinced the President that he must abandon support of Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

In other Watergate developments:

—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., said in a television interview Sunday he does not believe President Nixon was involved in the Watergate affair, but if it is proved he was "then I think resignation would be the cheapest, easiest and best way to do it." Goldwater said he did not believe Nixon should be impeached "unless it is proved that he lied."

—Sen. Howard M. Baker Jr., Tenn., the ranking Republican on the Senate Watergate Committee, said in a Sunday television interview he disagreed with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that the hearings were perverting the judicial process. He said he believed both the hearings and prosecutions can be carried out "efficiently and equitably."

Friday Splashdown Planned

Astros Set Endurance Record

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's astronauts, in good health and spirits, swept to a world's space endurance record of 24 days today and aimed toward the four-week mark with a Friday splashdown.

Charles "Pete" Conrad, Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz established the new record at 3:22 a.m. EDT while the space station crossed Africa on its 500th orbit.

The previous mark of 23 days, 18 hours and 22 minutes was set two years ago by the three Soviet Soyuz 11 cosmonauts who died when their ship suddenly lost cabin pressure just before re-entry because of a hatch leak.

Skylab's astronauts have traveled more than 9.7 million miles around earth—also a record—and they have harvested an unprecedented crop of scientific data about the sun, the earth and man's ability to withstand prolonged exposure to weightlessness.

Their highly acclaimed solar research ends tonight when Kerwin is to train Skylab's seven powerful telescopes at the sun for the last time before the next crew arrives July 27.

Conrad and Weitz plan to walk in space Tuesday morning to retrieve film cassettes from the solar observatory. The film is anxiously awaited by scientists on earth because it holds the images of the first sun explosion ever seen by man from above earth's atmospheric screen.

In addition to the film retrieval, flight controllers asked the two spacewalkers to attempt to fix a faulty battery regulator by tapping it with a hammer. The idea is that the shock might free a stuck relay.

Conrad and Weitz also will attempt to brush a dust particle off a telescope lens and they will leave a piece of sunshade material outside the spacecraft so the next crew can retrieve it and see how it is affected by sunlight. This is to see how long Skylab's sun umbrella will last.

Before the astronauts went to bed at 7 p.m. Sunday, they talked privately to Dr. Paul Buchanan at mission control. He later reported the pilots were "in vigorous good health and spirits."

The crewmen also talked to President Nixon Sunday and Conral spoke to his wife, Jane, and three of their four sons. Weitz and Kerwin received Father's Day messages from their families on Skylab's radio teleprinter.

The President, talking via a radio hookup from Key Biscayne, Fla., said he will be in San Clemente, Calif., when the astronauts splash down 843 miles southeast of San Diego Friday morning.

"Maybe you can come up to San Clemente and we can say hello," he said.

"I guess the way I can summarize this project is that it proves that man still matters," Nixon said. "With all the technical machines and so forth you had to work with, it proved that when there were difficulties that the ingenuity of men is space is what really mattered.

"You've made us all very proud."

CLAY ROAD NOW RESTRICTED — Joseph Clark (L) Town of Esopus superintendent, has announced that Clay Road in Port Ewen has been restricted to a maximum weight limit of nine tons, effective immediately. This was done in preparation for the closing of the Rondout Creek Bridge this summer, with Clay Road to be a major detour feeder. It is expected to prevent most heavy semi-trailers from using the road as a shortcut. Also instrumental in the matter were Robert Jordan, town justice, and Cas Landi, highway foreman. Sheehan Pleads Guilty to Larceny

KINGSTON — F. William Sheehan, a Mt. Tremper insurance agent accused of swindling his clients out of an estimated $100,000, pleaded guilty to one count of second degree grand larceny shortly before his trial was scheduled to begin today.

Sheehan had originally been charged with four counts of grand larceny. He was arrested March 27 after a five-month nationwide search by police.

Sheehan had originally pleaded innocent to the four counts of grand larceny. At 10 a.m. today before Acting County Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, the 54-year-old insurance agent changed that plea to guilty of one count of grand larceny, in satisfaction of the entire four count indictment.

Sheehan faces a prison term of one to seven years on the Class D felony conviction.

Judge Elwyn set July 23 as the date for sentencing. Sheehan was represented in court today by attorney John J. Schick. Assistant District Attorney James J. Murray represented The People.

In pleading guilty to the first count of the indictment, Sheehan admitted appropriating funds in excess of $1,500 belonging to a Frances West. Police alleged that the woman gave the money to Sheehan for investment in tax free bonds. Sheehan admitted converting the money to his own use.

Selection of a trial jury was scheduled to begin in County Court today. Had Sheehan been convicted on all four counts of grand larceny, the sentences would have had to have been served concurrently.

Prior to his arrest March 27, Sheehan had been the object of a five-month search by police, who alleged that he had issued fraudulent insurance policies between November, 1971 and June 1972. He was accused of pocketing the premiums, and paying the claims from his own account, leaving his clients without insurance protection.

Sheehan disappeared Oct. 17, 1972, and reportedly traveled extensively throughout the United States and Canada for the next five months. He was consistently pursued by police during that period. On March 27, Sheehan returned to Ulster County and surrendered himself at state police barracks in Hurley.

Police said they had come close several times to capturing Sheehan during the five-month chase. He had reportedly been spotted in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and California.

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Tuesday

Tonight, showers and thunderstorms will be noted in the Great Lakes most of the Ohio-Tennessee valleys and most of the Northeast area as well as in Southern Florida. Clear to partly cloudy elsewhere.

City Has New Hopes

KINGSTON — The city's landfill at Kingston Point may not be dead yet, if reports from the New York State Conference of Mayors annual meeting at Grossingers are any indication.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig returned from the 64th annual meeting of the state's mayors and municipal officers, held last week, and reported that the State Department of Environmental Conservation has had an apparent change of policy in funding "resource recovery" projects under the Environmental Bond Act of last year.

Koenig said he questioned Henry Diamond, commissioner of DEC, who indicated that "some funds may be made available, perhaps as much as 25 per cent" for resource recovery "to extend the life of our landfill either through shredding or compaction." Koenig said that when he met with DEC officials three months ago they were adament that at least 50 per cent of the city's waste material had to be recoverable in order for the city to qualify for assistance. Apparently, Koenig said, the state has changed its thinking on that, although specifics are still not available.

Koenig said that a meeting will be arranged between city officials and DEC officials at the regional office in New Paltz "as soon as possible" to discuss the fate of the landfill which engineering studies conducted three years ago indicated would be depleted this fall.

Koenig termed this mayor's conference, his fourth, "one of the most imformative sessions I've ever had the opportunity to attend." He said "face to face" meetings with state and federal officials in some 35 areas of local interest were made available in addition to a heavy schedule of classroom seminars.

Representatives were in attendance from the State Office of Local Government, the State Office of Aging, Audit and Control, Civil Service, Housing and Community Renewal, Parks and Recreation Division of Youth and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Renewal.

Koenig said particular attention was given to pension reform under the Kinzel Commission and to community development under special revenue sharing now being studied in Congress.

Policeman, Bartender, Gunman Killed

'Bullets All Over the Place'

NEW YORK (AP) — "There were bullets all over the place," a detective said after a policeman, a bartender and a gunman were shot to death in a crowded Harlem bar. Another officer and six patrons were wounded.

Police said about 20 shots were exchanged Sunday night after two patrolmen entered the Capri Bar and Grill and told a man waving a pistol to drop his weapon. He responded by firing five shots, police said.

A woman patron said a policeman ordered the gunman to "Drop your gun!" But the gunman "just wheeled about and fired at them five times," she told authorities.

Police Commissioner Donald F. Cawley said the initial report showed that "some of the injured were possibly hit by police fire." He said he could give no motive for the shooting.

The wounded officer and three of the wounded patrons were taken to Harlem Hospital.

A police spokesman said the gunman, about 50, had been "acting strangely" in the bar earlier in the evening. Police were called after he pulled out a gun and patrons scrambled for cover.

The first of five policemen to arrive were patrolman Ralph Stanchi, 29, and his partner, Richard Chiappa, 27. Stanchi was shot in the chest and died. Chiappa was wounded in the arm.

Stanchi, who joined the force four years ago, was the fourth city policeman killed in the line of duty this year. He was married and had two children, 16 months and 3 years old.

The gunman was not immediately identified. The bartender was identified as William Dotson, 52.

Police identified the three hospitalized civilians as Oscar Chestnut, 21, shot in the buttocks and in the arm; Arnold Jarvis, 55, wounded in the thigh and right arm; and Luzelle Ferguson, 55, shot in the right arm and right wrist.

The bar is on Lenox Ave, near 136th St.

Police Probing Alleged Abduction

BUFFALO (AP) — Police today continued to probe why a teen-aged wife, her younger brother and another youth were seized and held captive by a group of armed men Saturday night.

Meanwhile, five young men from Indiana were held in Erie County Jai on charges stemming from the alleged adbuction.

Investigators said they had received a tip saying Indiana men came to Buffao to act as "enforcers" in a dispute about payment for the sale of narcotics to a youth gang here. But detectives acknowledged they were having difficulty in gathering more information on that lead.

The armed band forced their way into the home of Mrs. Judy Paygon, 17, and seized her, her brother,Larry Karcher, 16, and Charles Scaife, 15, police said.

A short time later, Niagara Falls patromen found the captives and the Indiana men at a motel in suburban Tonawanda. The men were arrested at gunpoint, and the prisoners were safely freed.

Police said the men arrested, all from Elkhart, Ind., included Samuel R. Lillard, 22; Buddy D. Holmes, 20; Greg Heverling, 23; Robert Rogers, 24; and Jerry J. Robinson, 22.

In arraignments in Buffalo City Court Sunday, Lillard, Holmes and Neverling were charged with unlawful imprisonment, burglary and third-degree grand larceny. Rogers and Robinson were charged only with unlawful imprisonment.

The men face additional weapons and narcotics charges in Niagara Falls, stemming from 15 pounds of marijuana and four guns poice said they found in the men's cars.

According to detectives, a woman visiting Mrs. Paygon at the time of the break-in said the men wanted to know the whereabouts of Mrs. Paygon's husband,James.

But Paygon was quoted by police as saying he did not know any of the men nor why they would want him.

Golda Ends Speculation, Will Seek Another Term

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Golda Meir, who once described her job as "impossible," ended months of suspense Sunday and reluctantly announced she would seek another four-year term as Israel's prime minister.

With the support of three-quarters of the Israeli public, according to a recent poll, the 75 year old Ukranian born American educated grandmother is virtually assured of reelection.

Her announcement, made in a letter sent to governing Labor party Secretary Aharon Yadlin and read to a cheering secretariat meeting, ended months of agony among her political allies who feared she would step down.

That would have left the party open to a factional war at the party's nominating convention for Parliament next October.

Mrs. Meir, who first assumed her post in 1969 as a compromise choice to succeed the late Levi Eshkol, said in her letter she had tried to explain her feelings to "my fellow party members amid an effort to persuade them to free me from presenting my candidacy. But I have not succeeded.

"Therefore," she said, "if the party so decides, I will not remove my candidacy."

Yadlin said Mrs. Meir told him Saturday she had delayed her decision as long as possible in fruitless attempts to dissuade her colleagues from pressing her to continue. She also told him her decision did not mean other party members should not run for the post.

However, Labor's three principal rivals for the succession—Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir and Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon—have all urged her to stay on.

Mrs. Meir, who modestly celebrated her 75th birthday May 3, recently described her job to one interviewer as "an impossible one."

In talks with reporters last year that threw the country into suspense over her future plans, she suggested that she would not head her party's slate again.

But after a six-day medical checkup in a Jerusalem hospital last month and an apparent bill of health from doctors, she said she had not made a final decision.

'Nixon Always Knew,'...Martha

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell said today President Nixon "always knew what was going on" about the Watergate affair.

"I'll be damned if I'll let my husband take the rap for Mr. President," the wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell said in an early morning telephone call to this reporter.

"Between you and me and the gatepost, Mr. President always knew what was going on."

Mrs. Mitchell, calling from her New York City home, pointed out that Mitchell, while he was Nixon's campaign director in 1972, spent many evenings planning campaign strategy with the President.

"Have you any idea how many times he went out on the Sequoia (the President's yacht) with the President?" she asked.

On Sunday, Mrs. Mitchell called this reporter at Key Biscayne, Fla., and denied she and her husband were breaking up as a result of the Watergate. She said the reports were "rediculous . . . absolutely asinine."

"That's nonsensical," she said. "I really want to put the squash on that."

She was asked if her husband, former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, was "shaken" by the testimony of Jeb Stuart Magruder, the former deputy Nixon campaign director, that Mitchell helped plan the raid on Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate complex.

"He's holding up beautifully," Mrs. Mitchell said. "But of course he's shaken. He's great, absolutely great. There are a lot of people who think Magruder is a liar."

Mrs. Mitchell expressed some bitterness at reports that Pat Nixon feels sorry for the families of deposed White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

"What about the others who are suffering?" Mrs. Mitchell asked.

Ulster Set To Buy New Loader

TOWN OF ULSTER

The Ulster Town Board has announced it will spend $29,700 of its revenue sharing monies on "environmental protection" measures at the town's landfill site.

The revenue sharing money will be used to help purchase a $41,000 loader to help maintain the landfill and keep the freshly dumped refuse adequate covered, as required by local and state regulations.

The town also intends to erect a 40 by 60 foot building at the landfill site, where the equipment will be stored. Bids have been received for materials and construction of the building; they are being studied by town engineers.

It was also noted that the Town of Ulster intends to solicit bids for a new 10-wheel dump truck to be used at the landfill.

Revenue sharing funds for the township this year totaled approximately $63,000.

Lloyd Board Authorizes New Bidding

HIGHLAND

The Lloyd Town Board authorized the publication for bids for the new water line system that has been under consideration, at its regular meeting recently.

Bids for the 16-inch line will be accepted at the next board meeting July 11. The new system will augment the current 12-inch line which has become inadequate.

There are two purpose for the new line, according to Town Supervisor Louis Foscaldi. The system will supply additional volume but will also possibly reduce the town's insurance rating when water pressure in fire hydrants is increased.

Joseph Gruner, town superintendent of highways, requested to the board that the town survey John White Road as the first step in taking it over. The road will be widened by the town when it becomes a town road.

Gruner also requested that Belleview Road be surveyed in preparation for rebuilding it under the state's Donovan Plan. The road had originally been slated as a 1975 project but due to good weather speeding up the schedule, Gruner hopes to begin preliminary grading later this year.

Under the Donovan Plan, the road will be required to have two nine-foot lanes and two five-foot shoulders.

The board took action to have the two town justices removed from the town board in order to reduce their work load to only judicial duties. The public has 30 days to petition the town for a referendum if there is objection to this action.

The town Recreation Commission announced that a female softball league will be starting soon. Anyone interested may contact the commission.

Ex-County Resident On 4-H Staff

WASHINGTON

Former Ulster County resident, V. Joseph McAuliffe has joined the staff of the National 4-H Foundation as director of the education division.

McAuliffe is the son of Mrs. Michael McAuliffe of Kerhonkson and the late Michael McAuliffe. His sister, Mrs. Chales Craft is a resident of Ellenville.

He has had nearly 25 years experience in 4-H starting as an assistant county 4-H agent in Troy. Throughout his career he has been involved in key 4-H programs on a worldwide basis. In 1966 he served as a consultant for a rural youth conference in Germany and in 1967 led a team assigned to survey needs of rural youth in Vietnam.

A graduate of Cornell University, McAuliffe holds a master's degree in human development education form the University of Maryland and is completing work for a Doctor of Education degree from Stanford University.

In his new post he will be responsible for the leadership and citizenship training programs designed to build responsible initative in youth. A major responsibility will be coordination of the national program of staff development and training. He will be based at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

County Share

Ulster County will get a total of $5,440, 340.88 in the current distribution of funds to school district's as part of the state's support of public schools. The payment represents approximately 25 per cent of the assistance due during the 1973-74 state fiscal year.

Shop-Rite Introduces Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix*

The taste and the price are right.

A nutritious answer to rising meat prices.

We're introducing Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix for one good reason: to offer you more nourishing, tasty food at less cost per serving than regular ground beef.

Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix is a special blend of ground beef (not less than 70% by weight) and hydrated textured vegetable protein (not more than 30% by weight). The overall fat content does not exceed 23%.

Cheaper than ground beef.

What that all adds up to is a food that is equal to ground beef in protein, has substantially less fat content and costs less per pound.
And we've discovered that most people like its taste as well or better than ground beef.
That's because the essential flavor of ground beef is retained. While the "hydrated textured vegetable protein" (simply a sensible use of the soy bean's well-known high-protein content) absorbs and retains much of the meat flavor and juices.

Cook up a batch and see.

Try Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix in your favorite ground beef recipe. From a juicy hamburger to a special casserole. In spaghetti sauce, meat loaf, meatballs, chili, sloppy joes. You'll quickly discover that Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix suits your tastes in every way. Appearance, texture and flavor.

And especially price.

It's guaranteed to please.

We're so certain you'll find Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix a tasteful and sensible way to reduce your meat budget, we'll give you your money back if you're dissatisfied.
Try Ground-Rite Beef & Soy Protein Mix by Shop-Rite. You have everything to gain.

*Ingredients: Ground Beef 70%, Water 20%, Textured Vegetable Protein 10% (soy flour, salt, dehydrated onion, pepper, monosodium glutamate). Not to exceed 23% fat content.

HARRY D. HEISER

Position To Heiser

KINGSTON — Glenn B. Sutherland, president of the United Way of Ulster County has announced the selection of Harry D. Heiser of Tillson as associate campaign chairman for the 1974 United Way Fund Drive. Heiser joins William G. Sloane, general campaign chairman, in responsibility for the leadership in this year's United Way effort.

Heiser is plant supervisor-staff of New York Telephone Company with the assignment of implementing the company's repair service and station maintenance plans within the Mid-Hudson area. He has been employed by New York Telephone since 1947. He has been a resident of Ulster County since 1969. Prior to that he resided in Rockland County. There he was a member of the Grand Jurors Association, President of the Rockland County Crystal Radio Association and a Conservative Party Committeeman.

Heiser is married to the former Arlene Fajer and they are the parents of five sons: Robert, Douglas, Barry, Kirk and Gregory. He is a member of Hidden Harbor Yacht Club of Port Ewen. He holds a communication operator's license and is a member of the United States Military Affiliate Radio System. Heiser served with the United States Navy in the field of communications and cryptography from 1939 to 1947.

Upon accepting his responsibility, Heiser said, "I look forward to the challenge ahead. If this year's United Way Fund is to be a success, Bill Sloane and I will need a lot of help. Not only do we need the support of every resident of Ulster County through their contributions, but we'll need many volunteers to help us reach our goal. If the fifteen member agencies of the United Way are to continue to provide our families with their services, they need all of us."

Instructors Are Listed

STONE RIDGE — Instructors have been announced for co-ed Golf and Tennis courses which Ulster County Community College will offer this summer.

Rick Barthel, well known in Ulster County golf circles, will teach the golf course which will meet from 9 to 11:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays starting June 18. He taught the same course last summer. Barthel is also teaching two golf courses at 6:30-8:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday and on Monday and Wednesday.

Mark Cranfield, an Assistant Professor of of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the College, will teach the tennis course. It will meet from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursday starting June 19.

Barthel, a teacher at Onteora Central School, formerly was golf champion for the State University of New York for two years and has competed successfully in many area tournaments. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the State University College at New Paltz.

Cranfield who has taught tennis courses before at the college, earned his Bachelors and Masters of Science degrees from the State University College at Cortland. He formerly taught in the town of Hurley recreation program.

Further information about these courses can be obtained by calling the Office for Continuing Education at the college.

Rep. Gilman Is Co-Sponsor Of New Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Describing the Office of Management and Budget as "one of the major policy making agencies in our government," Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) has co-sponsored legislation requiring Senate confirmation of all future directors and deputy directors of OMB.

Gilman, noting that the original Bureau of the Budget from which OMB grew was little more than an obscure advisory unit, said: "Since its creation in 1921, it has become more powerful than some cabinet officies; formulating policy and having an enormous impact on federal priorities.

Budget Deficit Cut

The inflationary boom has increased income and profits and thereby expected tax receipts, with the result that the budget deficit for fiscal 1974, beginning July 1, has been cut from $12.7 billion to $2.7 billion.

The reason for the higher tax receipts is unwelcome, but the new figures are good news to the money market. The less the Treasury deficit, the less its need for borrowing and the less upward pressure on interest rates. The ultimate result may be to keep the interest rate at the current or lower level.

The original estimate of the deficit was made January 1, when the figure was put at $12.7 billion. There was a revision May 1, when income tax collections suggested the revenue would be up $7 billion, and the deficit estimate down to $2.7 billion.

At no time was the expenditure estimate of $268.7 billion altered, despite important changes, such as the interest on the national debt. Any spending estimate at this time is arbitrary, as Congress has not passed any of the regular appropriation bills or any other major bills affecting spending.

Which may be just as well, because William McChesney Martin Jr., former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, testified before the Senate Finance subcommittee that a "business froth now cresting will result in at least a moderate recession by the end of this year or the middle of next." Business is stronger than he has ever seen it, Martin added, but "the nation is floating on a sea of debt and I am worried about the banking system."

Martin welcomes the administration's effort to limit spending, but said the last dollar devaluation was not necessary. He urged the Federal Reserve to support the dollar abroad whenever its value is threatened.

Chicago Tests Emissions

Chicago is the first city in the country to start mandatory tests of emissions in private motor vehicles. These and other tests will be conducted in the months ahead in states and localities across the nation, to meet federal air quality standards by mid-1975.

The emissions tests takes only two minutes of the motorist's time, while auto fumes are evaluated by a computer. If they fail, they are given 30 days to make the required corrections. The aim is to have all the city's 1.2 million vehicles tested by the end of the year.

After that, the city may begin stopping cars and ticketing pollution violators.

A number of states have run voluntary tests and some are awaiting word from the environmental officials that emission controls are feasible. States are submitting their proposals to meet the standards for approval by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency. A decision is expected on the various state proposals by the middle of this month.

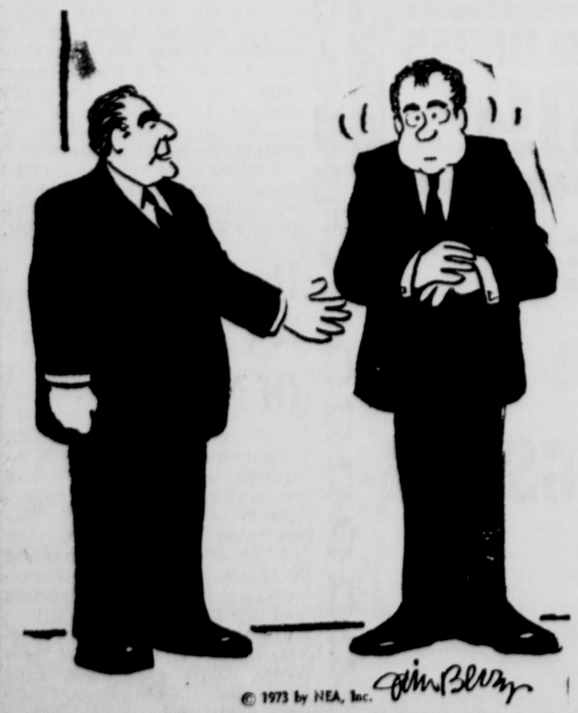

As it will affect every vehicle on the road, each motorists is bound to learn the standards and how to meet them.

UNLOOKED FOR SUPPORT — Holland's new Socialist premier, Joop den Uyl, called for "constructive consultations" between Western Europe, the United States and Canada on military, monetary, trade and energy questions. It was an unlooked for encouragement of the United States proposal that all these matters should be discussed together because they are interrelated.

PICKED UP ON THE STREET—A 74-year-old retired neighborhood volunteer worker was killed by the explosion of a television appliance picked up on the street in New York. It had been booby-trapped, not against her, but in a spirit of devilment. It is a warning to pass up things left in the street. Leave them for the sanitation crew to dispose of them.

LICENSING AUTO REPAIR—Senator Vance Hartke's bill to license auto repair shops would bring under control some 400,000 auto body shops, general garages and service stations that offer more than ordinary maintenance service. This much-needed licensing would be by the states but standards would be federal.

Hunt Probed Kennedy Incident

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The White House financed a trip to New England by Waterbugger E. Howard Hunt to investigate Sen. Edward Kennedy's role in the Chappaquiddick tragedy, according to Charles Colson, who ordered the mission.

The former White House aide confessesd his part in the snooping operation during a secret deposition taken May 28 by lawyers for the Democratic National Committee.

Colson told under oath how Hunt came to him in July 1971, with a tip that a policeman, identified only as "Demott," had confidential information on the case.

Because Kennedy was a potential presidential contender, the White House was eager to learn more about the 1969 drowning of Mary Jo Kopechne during a drive with Kennedy.

Rehash

Colson instructed Hunt to interview the policeman whose information, said Colson, proved to be a rehash of published material. The White House paid Hunt's air fare either to Massachusetts or Rhode Island for the interview, Colson recalled.

The tough, glib Colson also admitted he had dispatched Hunt to Denver to question Dita Beard about her famous memo linking an ITT financial commitment to the Republicans with an advantageous antitrust settlement. Hunt wore a preposterous, ill-fitting red wig on this secret mission.

Colson conceded that he had worked, too, on an advertisement supporting President Nixon's decision to bomb and mine Haiphong harbor. The ad was signed by private citizens but paid out of campaign funds.

'Attack Group'

In his deposition, Colson also spoke fully for the first time of his mysterious "Attack Group," which worked out of the White House in 1972. Its job, he said, was to coordinate policy for surrogate candidates who were carrying the political attack to the Democrats.

Colson vigorously denied he had advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in. The most he did, he said, was phone campaign deputy Jeb Magruder to arrange for the Watergate ringleaders, Howard Hunt and Gordon Liddy, to explain their intelligence plans. But Colson insisted he did this at Hunt's request and never learned the actual plans.

On balance, Colson denied more than he admitted. He flatly contradicted press reports that he had recruited men to pose as homosexuals in the McGovern campaign. He also denied knowing Hunt had once forged documents to show the late President John F. Kennedy had conspired to assassinate the late South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Democrat Deal: The Watergate spotlight has caught in its sweep many a moneybag who contributed generously to President Nixon's campaign and received a government favor in return, but there were Democrats, too, who engaged in this sort of exchange.

A defaced "m" in a typed bill introduced by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., for instance, led us to the typewriter of John Horne, a former Sparkman aide who is now a director of the billion-dollar Continental Investment Corp.

We established that Horne had written the measure and Sparkman had rushed it through his Senate Banking Committee without bothering to have it retyped. The bill would allow Continental's brokerage company to continue collecting fat brokerage fees until 1975 from a mutual fund company also owned by Continental. This would benefit the company at the expense of the shareholders.

Until a few days ago, we thought Sparkman had granted this legislative favor because of his long friendship for Horne. But now we have learned that Continental executives funneled money into Sparkman's 1972 campaign.

In December 1971, C. Robert Strader, vice president of Continental's brokerage firm, wrote his top aides in confidence: "In regard to the Senator Sparkman Campaign, would you be good enough to forward your check, made payable to the Sparkman Campaign Fund, to Mr Reasoner immediately. . . ." William Reasoner is president of the brokerage subsidiary.

Again in February 1972, Strader made another pitch to his harassed executives: "Everyone in the Home Office is being asked to contribute the cost of one or more $100 fund-raising tickets based on their salary level. . . . Forward your check to me made payable to the Senator John Sparkman Campaign."

Even in this day of Watergate, such blunt corporate pressure is uncommon. We have traced the flow of money from Continental executives into account number 12-860-81-411 at Washington's American Security and Trust bank.

The trail ends there. We were unable to get the bank or Sparkman's office or Continental to discuss the secret fund with us. Insiders have assured us, however, that the contributions were "substanial."

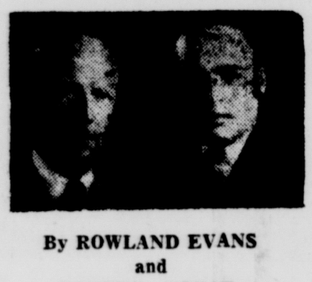

Whatever the total, it was a good investment, Sparkman's bill will benefit Continental many times above the amount its executives rasied

Inside Report

Walker's Unorthodoxy

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Gov. Dan Walker, whose first hundred days in office have been a failure by any conventional standard, is still reaching the people over the heads of the political establishment in a populistic appeal his lieutenants hope will reach the White House in 1976.

Walker's deliberately chosen enemy is the entire political establishment: the leadership of both parties in the state legislature; Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago Democratic machine and his downstate allies; the state bureaucracy; the education lobby; segments of organized labor, and, most of all, the press. Yet his most bitter enemies agree with the governor's private polls that Walker is more popular today than last November when he ran a million votes ahead of the state Democratic ticket.

The reason stems from the utter simplicity of Walker's two-point platform: (1) I am honest; (2) I will cut taxes. Since the legislature seems sure to adopt some tax cut, the governor is likely to get credit. Moreover, he benefits from the fact that his critics in the establishment, particularly the media, are viewed by the voters as common enemies.

The potential defect of Walkerism is the difficulty of maintaining absolute purity. Right now, for example, his foes are blowing up a mini-scandal, tiny by Illinois traditions, to colossal size — deeply worrying Walker's image-conscious inner circle, particularly in light of Watergate.

The Walker camp's hopes to go national with his anti-government, anti-tax, anti-establishment populism are scarcely disguised. Walker himself, faceitously or not, recently told highly popular Republican state Atty. Gen. William Scott he would have a clear shot for governor in 1976 because Walker would not be seeking reelection.

Superficially, Walker's shell-shocked beginnings as governor should nurture no presidential hopes. An unprecedented five appointments have died in the state Senate. His dependable supporters in the legislature do not exceed a dozen. He has offered no real legislative program. His credibility and popularity with the press are near zero. In particualr, Illinois liberals are distraught.

But Walker, while enlisting nationwide liberal support with his seemingly quixotic crusade against the Daley machine last year, is not now and never has been a conventional liberal. In a recent interview with us, he referred critically on several occasions to liberals, labeling demands for a full legislative program as "liberal dogma."

Indeed, what we called "white-collar Wallaceism" last fall has blossomed into genuine "Walkerism." He has thrust the budgetary knife into two liberal sacred cows: mental health and higher education. He is planning wholesale removal of cheaters from the welfare rolls. Aides of conservative Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, arch-enemy of welfare recipients, are coming to Springfield to help out.

"The people want government to stop doing all these things for them," Walker told us. The legislature might well meet every other year just to repeal laws now on the books, he added.

To deliver this message despite media hostility, Walker has devised the "fly-around" — landing without warning in half a dozen spots around the state and then attacking the distant establishment. The process has intensified Walker's support among downstate low-income voters and disillusioned his upper-income liberal backers from the Chicago area.

This liberal attrition can be partially traced directly to apprehension over the power of Victor de Grazia, Walker's campaign manager now in the new post of deputy governor. Crafty, hot-tempered and Machiavellian, de Grazia has wielded a sharp axe purging state officials and confronting state legislators. Staunch Walker, men, including some of his state appointments, privately whisper fears that de Grazia will prove the governor's undoing.

The present mini-scandal plaguing Walker, called "Walkergate" by his enemies, supports those fears. De Grazia is clearly behind the abrupt firing of the state liquor control commission chairman, who claims de Grazia suppressed his investigation of a Walker campaign contributor. De Grazia's denials, perhaps unfairly, are given little credence by Walker's enemies, who are desperately trying to build their own Watergate scandal.

In this crisis some key liberal Democrats stand by Walker despite his anti-government ideology, despite de Grazia's power politics and despite their distaste for Walker's presidential ambitions. The reason: whatever his shortcomings, they view Walker as a genuine threat to the hated Daley machine — a subject for another column from Illinois.

Nixon's No Personnel Manager

No one in Washington can understand why President Nixon required an entire year — and three choices — to fill the shoes of J. Edgar Hoover. The old man was great, but he was also a merciless disciplinarian, a bulldog with cast-iron opinions. He died, and had to be replaced.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is an armed monastery. Mr. Hoover made it that way. Its function has always been to protect the internal security of the United States.

Three Presidents tried to retire J. Edgar Hoover — Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon. Not one of the three had the fortitude to look the old man in the eye and advise him to leave. They tried it in a devious manner — through friendly third parties, and White House "leaks."

Hoover ignored them. He sat in his dark panelled office on Pennsylvania Avenue and looked across the street at a big hole. It was one of the biggest, and deepest, he had ever seen.

There, the new building for the FBI was to be built. He was beyond the autumn years and into the winter, watching those girders go up across the street. He wanted to live to see that monument complete.

Mr. Hoover didn't make it. He died in his sleep. Before the funeral, his assistant, Clyde Tolson, retired. President Nixon, who feared Hoover, understood the organizational structure of the FBI.

It is the most efficient law enforcement agency in the world. The agents, as any knowledgeable policeman can tell you, are the professionals' professionals. They are also lawyers and accountants.

No outsider could administer the FBI, any more than a civilian might replace Admiral Moorer to run the U.S. Navy. The new man would have to come from within. The FBI consists of a director, nine assistant and associate directors, a half dozen inspectors, and 59 Special-Agents-in-Charge. The latter head all the field offices.

In addition, there are over 8,000 agents, and 10,000 clerks, stenographers and technicians. Cartha DeLoache might have had the job. He was Hoover's assistant. He tired of waiting and accepted a fat position with Pepsi-Cola. Mark Felt, Assistant to the Director, would have been a good choice, but he will retire this week.

William Sullivan was regarded as a "Nixon man." He looked like a cinch for the appointment. Gordon Shanklin, head of the Dallas office, was considered for the job. So was Kenneth Whittaker of the Miami office. Roy Moore of Jackson, Mississippi, enjoys the respect of all the Special-Agents-in-Charge.

John Malone, who is SAC in New York and also Assistant Director of the FBI, was a name Nixon heard frequently. The President knew the names and the qualifications, and drifted into his remote mood. When he was pressed to name somebody, he called on L. Patrick Gray, who knew little more about the Federal Bureau of Investigation than its initials.

In Washington, Gray is known as the pluperfect lieutenant. As second in command anywhere, he would do well. He appeared to be one who could take orders, but was diffident about giving them. When the "White House" asked him to burn certain pertinent papers in the Watergate matter, it did not occur to Gray that others might look upon this as an evasion of law. He burned them.

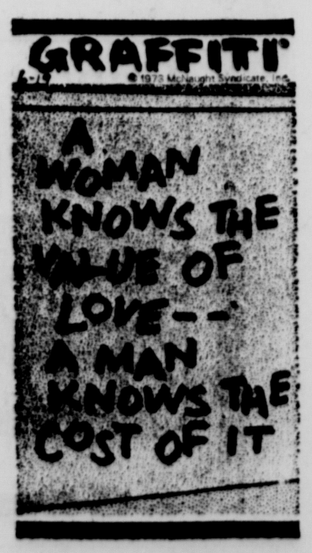

Nixon had a second chance. The FBI was drifting rudderless. Like any law enforcement agency, it needed a chief. The President selected William Ruckelshaus, another outsider, as an "interim" director.

Ruckelshaus summoned the 59 SACs for a Washington conference. They flew in at a cost of $17,000. He made a six-minute speech, introducing himself, and, smiling behind the horn-rim glasses, said he expected to be around for "about 60 days."

The Special-Agents-in-Charge had become so desperate that earlier they did something indiscreet. They sent a pleading telegram — which all signed — to Nixon. They begged him to appoint a director from within the ranks. "None of us seeks personal gain," it said, "there is a vast reservoir of qualified executives within the FBI from which a nominee could be selected."

Silence. No answer. A week ago, the President picked Clarence Kelley, retired FBI agent and chief of the Kansas City Police Department. I phoned a few SACs. Their reaction was a sigh of relief. "Kelley worked with us," they said. "He knows the FBI."

Why is it that the President, as a hiring agent, requires two or more shots to fill any post from the Supreme Court to Executive Assistants, to finding a new director for the FBI. One thing he's not — a personnel manager. . .

Time Runs Out on Hurricane Repairs

'Agnes' Still Beating Wawarsing

By MATT SPIRENG

TOWN OF WAWARSING — Hurricane Agnes, which struck Ulster County nearly a year ago causing considerable damage, is still making its affects felt in the Town of Wawarsing where town workers are feverishy attempting to meet a deadline less than two weeks away for the completion of 39 projects correcting some of the damage. That the deadline will not be met is a forgone conclusion, and the township has already applied for an extension of time.

The deadline—June 26, one year after the storm struck—is one set by the Federal government, whose approval was needed on the 39 projects in order for the township to be reimbursed for the cost—a substantial sum, estimated at nearly $235,000. That approval was received only about a month ago, on May 7, leaving less than two months to complete the work which ostensibly could take up to a year.

"It's an unrealistic deadline," said town engineer Alex Diachishin, who has been designated the township's representative for the projects.

Diachishin explained that the town could have proceeded with the work prior to receiving approval. He pointed out, however, that would have been a chancy undertaking, which, had approval not been received from the federal government, could have left the town with a debt $235,000 in excess of its budget.

An assumption that approval would be granted could have proved unwise, as pointed out by the fact that the town applied for 41 projects receiving approval on 39.

As it was, the town went ahead with some more urgent projects during 1972, spending some $60,000 in the process.

Partly for that reason, and partly because town highway crews have been working regularly on an overtime basis on the projects since approval was received, more than 40 per cent of the work was sone by June 4, according to Diachishin.

"We're trying to complete as much as humanly possible by the June 26 deadline," Diachishin said. He estimated that approximately 70 per cent of the work will be done by that date.

A large part of the work being done is on roads damaged by the storm, and all but one of the road work projects are being undertaken by town workers, a situation which Diachishin estimated will mean a saving of approximately $165,000. He explained that had the work been put out for bids the 39 projects could cost in the neighborhood of $400,000.

As it is, the town has advertised for bids on one project (drainage work on Continental Road), which is expected to take up a large chunk of the total estimated cost — $38,000 out of the $235,000 total.

"This project couldn't be done with the town's own forces if we were to do the other work too," Diachishin explained.

An extension until Sept. 30 has been requested on the Continental Road work, and a two-month extension has been requested on other projects not expected to be completed by June 26.

"I do think we will get the extension," Diachishin said.

Whether the town will receive total reinbursement for the nearly $235,000 estimated cost is however, another question.

Diachishin explained that that is a "maximum" reimbursement figure which can not be exceeded, but that depending on the results of federal and state audits, the totla amount might not be reimbursed.

He said, however, that extremely detailed records have been and are being kept of all work done, and that he is expecting to receive "close to the total amount."

Shandaken Ecologists Oppose New Developments

PHOENICIA — Condominiums in Chichester? Parking lots in Phoenicia? Shopping centers in Shandaken? Not if the Shandaken Environmental Council can help it!

Mrs. Charlotte Jacobsen, SEC chairman, said that announced plans for two developments in the Town of Shandaken would be the beginning of urban sprawl and strip development that would make the town "another Rockland County."

"This is one of the few unspoiled areas left in the state," she said. "I hope we can keep it that way."

"The Creek," one of the proposed developments, would put 84 housing units in groups of seven each and a large shopping center on 38 acres between Route 28 and the Esopus Creek southeast of Phoenicia near the Shandaken town line. Developers Herbert Mandell and Walter Sidmens have already presented preliminary plans to the Shandaken Planning Board for approval, Mrs. Jacobsen said.

She said that SEC would comply with the planning board's request to list specific criticisms of "The Creek" and would do likewise if and when plans for the second development are presented to the planning board.

"The Creek is an appropriate name," she said. "The shopping center would be built on a tract just 100 feet from the Esopus Creek on a piece of land designated by the Soil Conservation Service as a flood plain."

The Environmental Council at its June meeting discussed the two developments and issued a position statement saying: "SEC does not oppose the developments as such, but is concerned with the breakdown and eventual loss of the area's natural scenic and recreational assets."

SEC also noted that the New York State Development Plan has designated Shandaken as a sparsely settled and rural area with natural open spaces and parkland. "Occasional commercial, industrial, institutional and residential developemnt is expected within such an area," the plan states, "but it is one of mostly open spaces, outdoor recreation and natural beauty, subject to state conservation controls."

Mrs. Jacobsen said her group was grateful to County Legislator Clifford Snyder (R-Dist 1) who expressed Wednesday his opposition to plans to erect a 100-unit townhouse condominium at the base of Hunter mountain near the Schoharie Creek, and noted that Snyder had expressed concern that such a development would encourage others to use the same method of supplying water and subsequent adulteration of one of the area's most important natural resources.

"Ulster County waterways such as the famous Esopus Creek would therefore become prime targets for additional housing projects of this kind," Snyder said.

Mrs. Jacobsen said that the Council had asked the Department of Environmental Conservation office in New Paltz to conduct an environmental impact hearing on the development plans. An official from New Paltz has visited the two areas for an on-the-site inspection, she said.

She called on other individuals and groups to join the Environmental Council, the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association, and others who have expressed opposition to development plans.

"People say afterward that if they had only realized what was happening, they could have done something about it," she said. "Here is the chance to do something while there's still time."

Fund-Raising Event Slated

SAUGERTIES — Friends of Children of Vietnam will hold a "baby shower" and fund rasing event June 27 at 8 p.m. at the Sawyerkill Restaurant on Washington Avenue Extension in Saugerties.

Persons wishing to attend should contact Mary McMickle of FCVN on or before June 22. She lives on Kalina Drive in Saugerties.

City Reapportionment Vote Set Tuesday

KINGSTON — City voters will go to the polls tomorrow to vote on a new reapportionment plan calling for the redistricting of the city in 11 wards.

The question on the ballot is a simple yes or no proposition; a vote will make official the 11-ward plan adopted by the Common Council and approved by the mayor this apring. A no vote will retain, for the time being, the present 13-ward system, itself a product of reapportionment in 1968.

Both parties have announced efforts to "get out the vote" but most indicators point to a light turnout.

Alderman Titus B. Sims (R-13th Ward) who spearheaded the Republican opposition to the Democrat-sponsored 11-ward plan in the Common Council, drawing up his own 13-ward plan, and compiling and distributing a letter against it during the last few days, has now announced that transportation to the polls for those needing it will be coordinated from his home on 72 Pine Grove Avenue.

"I wish the voters to recognize that I am doing this as a public service only," Sims declared today. "I have no axe to grind, nor any political motivation. I am not a candidate for reelection as alderman, and my opinions concerning this proposed reapportionment plan are certainly well known by now."

"Regardless of how you vote," Sims said, "my invitation stands. Please call me at 331-5542 for any assistance you may require."

Proponents of the 11-ward plan contend that it falls well within the Supreme Court's guidelines of "one man—one vote" and in fact offers a population deviation overall of less than five per cent. The present plan had deviation overall of less than five per cent. The present plan had deviations of up to 50 per cent.

Opponents of the 11-ward plan contend that it would be disruptive and "confusing" and result in a loss of representation what with two less aldermen.

Meanwhile, Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the Council's Reapprotionment Committee, urged a "yes" vote on the 11'ward plan, suggesting that defeat of the plan could result in a court-ordered reapportionment. "We can't stay the way we are," Qucik said. "We have to reapportion. If this plan is defeated, someone has to make a decision and it could be the courts." Quick also suggested that the courts might order "at-large" election of aldermen. "If they vote for the 11 it will insure direct representation," Quick said.

The plan, for the most part, retains the present boundaries of the uptown wards, but proposes major changes in the downtown section of the city. The present Ninth and 10th Wards will be combined to form the new Ninth Ward while the present Fourth, 11th, 12th and 13 Wards will be combined to form the new Fourth, 10th and 11th Wards.

The polls will be open tomorrow from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Copies of the proposed plan will be available at the city's 26 polling places.

Teachers Declare Impasse With City School Board

KINGSTIN — An impasse has been declared and mediation services have been requested in contract negotiations between the Kingston Teachers' Federation and the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Election. Notification has been sent to the Public Employment Relations Board in Albany.

About 200 teachers met last week and voted unanimously to declare the impasse marking the first time since passage of the Taylor Law in 1967 that the Federation and the school board failed to ratify a contract prior to the close of school.

According to Mrs. Barbara Kleckner, president of the Federation, "negotiations with the aid of mediation and fact-finding services will continue into the summer if necessary in an attempt to reach a settlement at the earliest possible date."

She said that because of the lateness in the school year, impasse at this time nearly guarantees that a settlement will not be reached prior to the close of school.

If negotiations continue into the summer, no attempt will be made to hold a ratification meeting until school resumes in the fall, she explained, adding that if it should develop that a settlement cannot be reached over the summer, a meeting will be called in early September to determine what steps should be taken in that event.

Mrs. Kleckner said that the federation informed the board on June 5 that it would not entertain any further discussion of salary until the board showed "some movement" on "key items". Those items, she said, included elimination of the ninth period at the secondary level, half-day attendance for elementary pupils on the final Wednesday and Thursday of the school year, three-year attainment of tenure, a number of speech therapists in the district and initiating a dental plan for all members of the teacher's unit.

The board replied, according to Mrs. Kleckner, that it would increase its salary offer if the federation would drop all the "items" not yet resolved, including those mentioned.

"It is unfortunate that the board decided to adopt such an intransigent attitude at this point in the negotiations," she concluded.

Woman Charged In Threatening City Policeman

KINGSTON — A 22-year-old Kingston woman was arrested Sunday night for second degree reckless endangerment after she allegedly pointed a cocked and loaded .30-30 caliber rifle at a Kingston Police Department patrolman.

Norine Winters of 224 Foxhall Avenue was also charged with driving while intoxicated, and driving without a registration or insurance.

Police said the woman was traveling east on Foxhall Avenue Sunday night when she apparently lost control of her car. The auto left the roadway and struck a fence.

When patrolman Dominic Ausanio arrived at the scene, said police, a crowd of people had gathered around the car. Ausanio then reported that the woman brandished the rifle from inside the car, and told the officer she would shoot him if he came any closer. Ausanio, said police, was able to disarm the woman.

Miss Winters was scheduled for arraignment in City Court today.

Air Canada Is Reducing Some Flights

MONTREAL (AP) — Air Canada says it is reducing flights by 30 per cent and that further work stoppages by machinists would lead to a "complete shutdown."

Air Canada's machinists, involved in a contract dispute with the airline, have been conducting daily 24-hour rotating strikes at Air Canada terminals.

The 30 per cent cut in flights was to take place immediately, the airline said Sunday.

"The availability of units to service the fleet is becoming a major problem because of repeated work stoppages at the airline's principle maintenance centers," said Yves Pratte, chairman of the board, in a statement.

"Further deterioration will lead to a complete shutdown of the airline on 48 hour notice," the official said.

Two Jailed In Lieu of Bail

NEW PALTZ — Bonnie Oexner, 23, of Woodstock and Doyle N. Cranford, 22, of Arlington, Tex., were arrested early Sunday morning by officers of the Town of New Paltz Police Department and charged with fourth degree possession of dangerous drugs, after a quantity of marijuana was reportedly found in their possession in a parking lot in New Paltz.

Both were arraigned before Town of New Paltz Justice Rexford Schneider and committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail each pending a court appearance Friday.

Two Burglaries Being Probed

TILLSON — Deputies with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department are investigating a Sunday morning burglary at the Tillson Distributing Co. on Route 32 in Tillson.

An undetermined amount of money was stolen from the premises, according to police. The offices inside the building were ransacked.

Entry was gained by smashing a rear window and unlocking a larger rear window.

Deputies also investigated today an attempted burglary at Lucas Avenue Pharmacy in the Town of Ulster.

Police said the thieves attempted to enter the building by cutting a hole in the roof.

City Police Probe Shooting

KINGSTON — Detectives of the Kingston Police Department are continuing their invesitigation today into Saturday's shooting of a 21-year-old Kingston woman on St. James Street.

Camile Lentz was reported in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital, with a gunshot wound in the abdomen. She has been removed from the intensive care unit.

Police said they are attempting to determine whether the shooting — with a small calibre pistol — was accidental or an attempted suicide. Detectivs said a second party was not involved in the shooting.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our brother Robert D. Marks who passed away two years ago June 18, 1971.

Have you ever lost a loved one
Who was very dear to you?
One you loved so very much
And miss him like we do?
If you've never had this heartache
We pray you never do.
For when Jesus takes a loved one,
He takes a part of you.
Dear God please take this message
To our brother up above,
Tell him how much we miss him
And give him all our love.
With all our love,
BROTHERS and SISTERS

Debra Brooks Is Bride of Robert T. Sullivan

St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz was the setting for the wedding of Debra Joyce Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brooks Jr. of 27 New Paltz Road, Highland, and Robert T. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan of Highland.

The Rev. Msgr. John Mulroy officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza in the empire style trimmed with venise lace around the ring neckline. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a matching lace camelot cap and she carried a bouquet of carnations, chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Cheryl Abbott of Highland was maid of honor for her cousin in a blue floral print gown of silk organza styled in the empire line. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a white basket of carnations, chrysanthemums, daisies and baby's breath.

Shelley Delmar of Highland, cousin of the bride; Lori Mannion, Elmont, cousin of the bridegroom; Mari Ellen Santoro of Wappingers Falls; and Fran Latieri of Clintondale served as attendants.

Louis Fadcaldi of Highland was best man. Ushering were Larry Brooks, brother of the bride; George Santaro; Kevin Mannion, cousin of the bridegroom; and Tommy Sullivan, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was given at the Villa Baglieri.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Highland High School, is employed as a secretary for Vertis Company in Gardiner.

Her husband, a 1972 alumnus of Highland High School, is employed at Wonder Bread.

After awedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will reside in Highland.

Miss Diane Holmquist daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Holmquist of McHenry, Ill., and GMG 3 Stanley Krom, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gerald Krom of RD 3, Pine Tree Lane, Kingston, were united in marriage at First United Methodist Church in McHenry on Sunday, June 3.

Jan Pingleton of McHenry served as honor attendant and Barbara-Jeanne Krom, sister of the bridegroom, Kingston, was bridesmaid.

IC3 Larry D. Goerner of Laurens, Iowa, was best man. Allen Holmquist of McHenry, brother of the bride, was an usher.

A reception was given at McHenry American Legion.

The bride, a graduate of McHenry High School, is employed as a technician at McHenry Hospital. Her husband, an alumnus of Middletown High School, is serving in the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Dewey, homeport Newport, R.I.

Mr. and Mrs. Krom are residing at 116 Prospect Avenue, Middletown, R.I.

Rich - Hershoff Wedding Sunday

Marcia Ann Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon B. Rich of East Hampton, Conn., was married to Lawrence Stephen Hershoff of West Warwick, R. I., Sunday, June 17. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hershoff of 14 Vans Terrace, Lake Katrine.

The Rev. James B. Yee of First Church of Christ Congregational, Redding, Conn., and Rabbi Samuel Silver of Temple Sinai, Stamford, Conn., officiated at the ceremony, at Chestnut Lodge, Colchester, Conn.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Sharon Ann West of Stoneham, Mass. was maid of honor. Best man was Fredrick L. Monahan Jr. of Wallingford, Conn.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of yellow and white seersucker styled with short puffed sleeves and accented with lace. A floral bond of daisies, ivy and baby's breath served as her headpiece and she carried a cascade of white daisies, yellow roses, ivy and baby's breath.

The honor attendant's gown of white, yellow and blue was styled identicially to the bride's. She wore a similar headpiece and carried a bouquet of daisies, ivy and baby's breath.

The bride was graduated this year from Clark University, Worcester, Mass., with a degree in History. While in college, she was a student library assistant, undergraduate history representative, and a member of women's intercollegiate bowling team. She plans to attend the University of Rhode Island Graduate School of Library Science in the fall.

Her husband, a 1971 magna cum laude graduate of Clark University where he majored in Economics, received his masters degree in Business Administration from University of Rochester. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma, national honor society. He is employed as a commercial credit analyst by Industrial National Bank, Providence, R.I.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershoff will reside at 71 West Warwick Avenue, West Warwick, R.I.

Betrothal Told

Mrs. Kenneth VanDemark of 80 Hurley Avenue, Kingston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Maureen, to Bruce Krom, son of Detective and Mrs. Floyd Krom of 156 Fairview Avenue, Kingston. Miss VanDemark is also the daughter of the late Kenneth VanDemark.

The bride-elect is employed by Northeast News Company as a coding clerk.

Her fiance is employed by Colony Liquor Distributors.

A July wedding is planned.

UCCC Alumni to Meet On Thursday Evening

Former students at Ulster County Community College are urged to attend an open meeting planned for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Retreat Restaurant on Route 28, outside Kingston, according to Keith Jordan, chairman of an Alumni Steering Committee.

"We feel this will be a good opportunity for former Ulster students to get together," said Jordan, "and we hope it will stimulate some interest in our newly formed Alumni Association."

He explained that anyone who attended the College is considered an alumnus and is welcome at Thursday's meeting. "We're anxious to get out as many former students as possible," he added.

Jordan said the Alumni Association is hopeful of being able to plan a party for later in the summer.

He feels alumni members can help the College by advising on the kind of services to offer and assist in helping Ulster to meet today's challenge of higher education in the county.

Nuptial Vows Are Exchanged

Miss Linda Jean Pulcastro of Mt. Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pulcastro, became the bride of Bruce Mark Lydecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lydecker, Mt. Marion, on Sunday, June 3, at Plattekill Reformed Church. The Rev. John Needham officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Susan Dussol was organist and Cherie Pulcastro, sister of the bride, and Donna Eastman played selected guitar pieces.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Juliet-style gown fashioned with an empire waistline, a bodice of lace over satin, lace sleeves and satin skirt. A cap of lace over satin held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Patricia Scully was maid of honor. She wore a yellow gown styled identically to the bride's. A Juliet cap served as her headpiece and she carried a bouquet of daisies.

Dawn Goldpaugh served as flower girl in a green and yellow print gown similar in styling to that of the honor attendant's. She carried a basket of yellow and white daisies.

Robie Springer of Mt. Marion was best man. John King and Lester Langdon served as ushers. Joseph Goldpaugh was ringbearer.

A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents.

After a wedding trip to the Adirondack Mountains, the couple will make their home in Hurley.

Elizabeth Post: Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
(c) 1973, Emily Post Institute, Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post:

In September, my husband and I plan to celebrate our golden wedding anniversary. Our two daughters and their husbands wish to give us a reception at our country club. Is it all right to have the invitations read, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe request the honor of your presence at a reception given by their daughters at such and such a time, etc.? Should we mention their married names?

Also, is it permissible to engrave at the bottom of the invitation, "No gifts, please?"

Mrs. L. Wayne

Dear Mrs. Wayne:

Since your daughters are giving the reception, the invitations should be in their names:

In honour of the Fiftieth wedding anniversary of
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown
Mr. and Mrs. John Smith
Mr. and Mrs. William Moore request the pleasure of your company at the reception on Saturday, the tenth of September at seven-thirty o'clock
The Broadmoor Country Club

And, yes, you may have "No gifts, please" engraved at the bottom of the invitation.

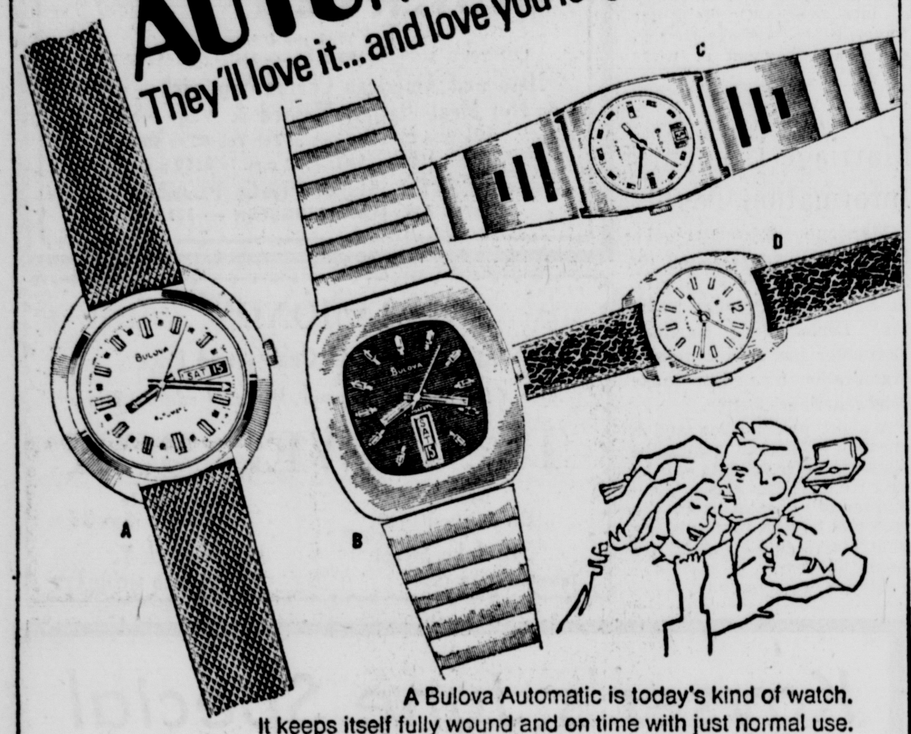

To be eligible for the weekly prize of an Emily Post Etiquette book, join my courtesy campaign. Write me, in care of The Daily Freeman, describing breifly the most courteous act you have seen recently. A courtesy award button will be sent to you and to the person who performed the act. Be sure to include your name and address and his, as prize-winning nominator and nominee will each receive a book.

PATIENCE COUNTS

Training a child to live in this world requires much patience and common sense, says Phyllis W. Barlow Extension Home Economist. The first time you catch your child deliberately lying or stealing or using indecent language, you may be shocked. If this continues, you worry over his character. In any case, you know you must help him to learn.

It takes time for a child to learn to tell the truth, just as it takes time for him to learn to tie his shoe laces. It is not an easy accomplishment. Both need considerable patience on the parents' part.

Most children's lies are an attempt to escape punishment or consequences of mistakes. They lie to avoid hurt feelings or because they would be embarrased by the truth. A great deal of lying is really false boasting.

Cursing and name calling are due to the same causes as stealing and property damage. The child may be experiencing resentment, or showing off to gain recognition. If you take childish experiments in profanity calmly, you are lucky. And if you do, you can count on the children outgrowing the tendency.

DO YOU WORRY ABOUT WHETHER OR NOT TO SPANK YOUR CHILDREN? Research findings show that too much spanking is very bad indeed. But, none at all is almost as bad. Studies show that children who were spanked occasionally turned out better than those who were spanked too much and those who weren't spanked at all.

Parents who can never bring themselves to give the child a spanking build up a kind of hostility and take it out on the child by scolding too much. This makes the child feel unsure and rejected — as if he cannot do anything right.

The parents who spank occasionally usually do not nag, scold, or yell as much. But parents who never spank, nag very much.

Researchers found out that children who were spanked occasionally were much more secure, and so were the children who received moderate but not excessive amounts of scolding.

The ones who were never spanked and never scolded were more anxious, and so were the ones who were spanked or scolded to much.

Baby Shower Given Recently

A surprise baby shower was given recently for Mrs. Bernard (Doreen) Langendorf of 14 Cottage Row, Kingston. The event took place at the home of Beatrice Fox of Kingston. Hostesses were Mary Scism, Frances Grunenwald, Ann Markle, Ann, Bonnie and Shirley Langendorf.

Those attending included Carolyn Roberti, Beatrice Fox, Dolores Wolven, Margaret Harnden, Kathy Harnden, Henrietta Scism, Bonnie Disch, Ann Markle, Bonnie Langendorf, Shirley Langendorf.

Also, Ann Langendorf, Mary Scism, Donna Scism, Joan Scism, Ann Nalepa, Frances Grunenwald, Dolores Freer, Gail Terwilliger.

Gifts were received also from relatives and friends unable to attend.

DEAR ABBY: About a year or so ago you came out with the statement that homosexuals are NOT sick. Please try to find it, and run it again. This is important to me. Thank you.

DAILY READER IN S.F.

DEAR READER: Homosexuality is NOT a "sickness." There are homosexuals who live socially well-adjusted, discreet, personally happy lives, whose homosexuality would come as a surprise to many of their close heterosexual friends.

The fact that homosexuality is morally condemned by most people in our culture makes it seem abnormal. In other times and in other cultures it has not always been so judged.

Much of the maladjustment seen in homosexuals is due to the rejection, persecution and guilt imposed upon them by an intolerant and unenlightened society.

One who labels all homoseuxals as sick does a grave disservice to a large segment of our population.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very good job as a secretary, and my problem is a husband who likes to phone me twice a day just to talk — about nothing. Maybe there is something wrong with me, but I would prefer that he didn't call me at work unless there was some reason for it.

I have never been told it was against the rules, but I get very uneasy hanging on the phone listening to his pointless chitchat. I have asked him not to call me just to talk but he does anyway, and I have a terrible time getting off the phone.

I just this minute got off the phone with him, after cutting him very short saying I was in the middle of something important, so he called me right back to finish a long-drawn-out, boring story, so I cut him short again.

I offered to quit my job so I could stay home and talk to him whenever he wants for as long as he wants but he didn't like the idea.

How should I handle this? I am very upset.

BUGGED IN THE BRONX

DEAR BUGGED: How old is your husband? He sounds like a pestiferous little boy. Tell him his calls are upsetting you and to please cease and desist. And if he calls you anyway, keep cutting him shorter and shorter until he gets the message.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I received a nasty letter from my mother. She tore me apart because I forgot to send my father a card or some kind of remembrance on his birthday. (It skipped my mind until the next day, so I called up to apologize). My father seemed to understand, but my mother was furious. Now comes this letter telling me I'm a thoughtless, ungrateful, selfish kid, and she'd never forgive me.

Abby, I felt just terrible. I have been supporting myself for nearly a year. I live 200 miles from home and have a very good paying job for a kid my age (I'm 19). My folks were always so proud of me — until now.

When I got mom's letter I dashed off one to her saying if that's the way she felt about me I would get out of her life. Now I'm sorry I sent it.

Do you think she'll forgive me? What should I do now?

FEELING LOW

DEAR FEELING: Of course she'll forgive you. Write her again and tell her that you wrote that letter before you had a chance to cool off. She'll understand. You probably inherited your hot temper from her.

DEAR ABBY: To the poor woman whose husband forces his harmonica playing on everyone even tho he can't play: Make a tape recording of one of his performances. He might realize how awful he is when it's played back to him privately.

This also works for teeth-clikers, snorers, ahem-ers, cursers, etc. I nevah believed I had a su'then accent until I heard mahself on tape.

Hints From Heloise

BY HELOISE

AT THE END IT SAYS TIME TO BUY MORE

Dear Folks:

Wax paper is good for more than wrapping paper. Remember when I asked how you used it ? Well, here are some great ideas you all sent in:

To make place mats, take two sheets of wax paper the size you like, and between them, place pictures from magazines, picture cards, or make your own.

Lay the sheets on a newspaper and press together with a warm iron. It can be wiped clean with a damp cloth and will last for some time.

Use appropriate pictures for the occasion or season. Pressed flowers of leaves are always nice too.

Tape or clamp wax paper together in long pieces for a picnic tablecloth. Then just wipe off with a damp cloth for the next meal.

When the babies are along drop that wet diaper on a piece of wax paper; it's clean and sanitary. I line all drawers and cupboards with wax paper. I also line our luggage with it.

Clamp together strips of wax paper and recut old dress patterns. It's great as the pattern lies firm and straight. I made a wax paper hat for my grandson because he just had to try out his new bike while it was raining.

A piece of wax paper under my flour sifter will slide all dry ingredients into my cake mixer when I lift both sides evenly.

I also use wax paper under my grater for grated cheese, carrots for coleslaw. There is nothing easier for refilling salt and pepper shakers for the table. A little fold will make the sheet into a funnel and you don't have to wash it.

Use wax paper around booklets that don't want to go into a large mailing envelope. The wax lets them slide into the envelope easily.

Use it under scarves and things that would stick to furniture.

Whenever there's any mixture in a bottle that I need to shake, I simply use a seal of two thicknesses of wax paper over the bottle before the cap gets screwed on, and the liquid will not leak out. Give it a try and see how much you'll like the results. Just shake away!

Thank you good friends for sending in all of these wonderful hints. I know they will all be useful to many folks.

Wax paper is a handy little item that no housewife should ever be without.

Dear Heloise:

My children were not brushing their teeth for a long enough time to get them thoroughly clean so I decided something had to be done.

An egg-timer was the answer! Now it is fun for them to time themselves, and their teeth are showing results.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They Suffer Pain Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues?

Exclusive Formula Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief In Many Cases from Such Pain. Also Helps Shrink Swelling of Such Tissues Due to Infection.

In a survey, doctors were asked what they use to relieve such painful symptoms. Many of the doctors reporting said they either use Preparation H themselves or in their office practice.

Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief for hours in many cases from pain, itching in hemorrhoidal tissues. And it actually helps shrink painful swelling of such tissues when infected and inflamed. Just see if doctor-tested Preparation H® doesn't help you. Ointment or suppositories.

Stone Ridge Library Fair

Under the Big Top is the theme for this year's Stone Ridge Library Fair to be held Saturday, June 23. Special attractions for children will be offered throughout the day.

Walter Gibson of Stone Ridge will present a magic show at noon under the tent in the children's section. At 2 p. m. there will be a film cartoon show in the Library building, courtesy of Romeo Muller of High Falls. A roving clown will supervise pony rides, body painting, a children's fortune teller, races, games and the use of stilts, pogo sticks and a slide.

Special appreciation is extended to the Happy Homemakers 4-H Club of High Falls and the Marbletown Artists Association for their assistance in making the Fair a special day for children.

Rescue Squad Mailing Plans

NEW PALTZ

The newly formed New Paltz Rescue Squad Inc. could be ready to begin full operation here sometime late this summer, according to Kenneth H. DePuy, president of the squad.

The rescue squad will be based in the village but will provide service for both the town and village and Ulster County if summoned through Mutual Aid or Civil Defense.

Services provided by the squad will include: light rescue procedures associated with automobile accidents, sudden illness, etc; immediate and temporary help to persons who sustain sudden illness or injury and, if necessary, to transport such persons to area hospitals and the administration of Emergency Medical Technology treatment to the critically ill or injured.

The squad is completely a volunteer organization and depends upon donations for its existence. A fund-raising campaign is now being started under the direction of Peter J. Savago to raise money for a vehicle and numerous operating expenses.

New Paltz residents will be receiving letters asking for donations but others may send contributions to the squad at P. O. Box 13 in New Paltz.

President DePuy has stressed that all treatment by the rescue squad will be free of charge.

More than 80 persons have enrolled as members in the squad and in order to achieve active status, each member must have an Advance First Aid card to certify that he has completed the prescribed training in life sustaining and treatment procedure.

Half of the volunteers have elected to take advanced training in Emergency Medical Technology, which involves a two-month 45-hour course during July and August. Members must pay for this course and all other training themselves.

Active members must be between the ages of 18 and 60 and be examined by a physician on a schedule set up according to age groups.

The rescue squad is the brainchild of Dr. Herbert Weinman and Peter E. Kane, who realized that New Paltz had a strong need for such a service. They started the ball rolling with a public information meeting in September of 1972 and applications for membership were accepted soon after.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened lower today as the dollar hit record lows in some European countries and the price of gold surged.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down better than a point and declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange led advancing issues 120 to 78.

The Bank for International Settlements said today it saw no let-up in the current monetary crisis, a depressing factor on the stock market.

Analysts said that the main depressant is the lack of confidence in the new economic program announced last week.

Kaufman & Broad was the most-active issue on the Big Board, unchanged at 23, followed by American Telephone & Telegraph, down ⅜ at 50¾ and Alcoa, unchanged at 59⅛.

The stock market plummeted in the last two sessions last week after President Nixon announced his new economic program. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials lost more than 12 points on Thursday and sank another 14.37 on Friday to finish the week at 888.55.

Record Dollar Slump In Early Trading

LONDON (UPI) — With concern running high over the Watergate scandal, the dollar slumped to record lows in Frankfurt and Amsterdam in early trading today and lost ground on other European markets. Gold prices surged ahead.

In Frankfurt, the dollar dropped to 2.5550 marks by mid-morning as compared with Friday's closing rate of 2.5700, the previous record low there.

The dollar opened at 2.7200 guilders in Amsterdam, down 0.44 per cent from the previous low of 2.7320 guilders set at the close Friday. The dollar has declined by 14.24 per cent against the guilder since the Feb. 13 devaluation of the U.S. currency.

Britain's Barclays bank said today's $2.5850 against the pound was one of the highest rates for the pound against the dollar since the $2.60 rate established when the pound was "floated" free of its fixed exchange rate in June last year. But it was still above the record low of $2.5900 reached briefly last week.

In Paris, where the dollar was weak, a dealer working for an American bank said he felt the dollar's continued weakness was due "to a lack of any good news coming out of America recently. There is a general pessimism about the American situation."

Some bankers attributed the dollar woes to the atest developments in the Watergate case.

The price of gold was pegged at $122 an ounce in the first of two daily price settings on the big London bullion market, up $1.75 from Friday's close of $120.25.

In Zurich, gold changed hands at $121-$123 an ounce, up from Friday's close of $119.50-$121.

The dollar decined marginally in early trading on other European currency exchanges.

In London, the dollar was traded at $2.5850, down fractionally from Friday's close of $2.5800.

On the Paris financial market, used by speculators and tourists, the dollar opened at 4.22-4.23 francs, slightly down from Friday's close 4.2250-4.2550 francs.

In Zurich the dollar changed hands at 3.0450-3.0490 Swiss francs, down marginally from Friday's close of 3.0537.

The dollar opened in Brussels at 37.50 Belgian francs, 0.62 per cent under Friday's close of 37.775 francs.

City Owed $5.4 Million In Back Rents

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said Sunday New York City is owed about $5.4 million in back rents by tenants in city-owned apartment buildings, with the Long Island Rail Road a big outstanding debtor.

According to Levitt's audit of the city's Department of Real Estate (DRE), an estimated $2.7 million is owed by individuals who still occupy the apartments and another $2.7 million by former tenants.

One of the delinquent tenants is the Long Island Rail Road, which owes the city $1.1 million-Levitt said.

The audit found that vacancy control of the 4,000 buildings managed by the DRE "was poor" and that "maintenance was not adequate."

Despite a vacancy rate for habitable apartments of 19 per cent, the DRE has not kept "other city agencies notified of these vacancies even though the city has placed welfare families in hotels at high costs because rental unit were not available when needed," the audit report said.

Carrier Wasp Hits RR Bridge

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — The aircraft carrier Wasp, en route to a New Jersey dock after being sold for scrap, crashed into a railroad bridge across Newark Bay today, jamming the bridge in the open position and ripping off the ship's radar gear and a railing.

The Coast Guard said the 890-foot-long Wasp, being towed by five tugs, continued through the bridge.

No injuries were reported. The Coast Guard said no one was believed to have been aboard the Wasp.

The bridge, the Penn Central-Lehigh Valley Railroad's span from Newark to the Greenville section of Jersey City, was reported by the Coast Guard to be "totally out of alignment," with damaged locking gear and fenders.

The Coast Guard said the harbor remained open to traffic.

There was no indication when the bridge might be repaired.

The Wasp, which saw service in late World War II and Korea, had been sold for scrap to the River Terminal Development Co. of Kearny, N.J., and was en route to the old federal docks in that Newark Bay community when the accident happened at 9:27 a.m. today.

The Coast Guard said the ship set out from Boston Saturday.

Explanation of BOCES Program Is Planned

BOICEVILLE

BOCES Vocational Education programs will be explained at the regular meeting of the Onteora Board of Education 8 p.m. tonight in the high school cafeteria.

Guests will be Dr. Jack L. Roosa, Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services district superintendent and Michael Aronica, director of vocational education. They will present an overview of the BOCES program and how it will relate to Onteora students.

Herbert Howard assistant to the superintendent of Onteora Schools will present a brief progress report on the introduction of a program for the gifted.

The public may attend.

Tidal Wave, Quake Hit Northern Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — A strong earthquake followed by a tidal wave hit the northern Japanese islands of Hokkaido and Honshu Sunday, injuring at least 23 persons and causing more than $5 million damage, the local government said today.

The damage included 26 battered or sunken ships, about 200 flooded homes and fissures in highways. About 300 tons of dead salmon were washed ashore by the 6½-foot tidal wave that followed the temblor.

The quake, which measured 7.25 on the Richter scale and five on the Japanese scale of seven, rocked Hokkaido and northern Honshu at 12:55 p.m.

A total of 34 aftershocks, including three which registered four or more on the Japanese scale, have been reported by the Sapporo Seismological Agency.

Police said most of the injured were hit by falling debris in their homes. None of the after tremors caused any serious damage or injuries.

Marbletown Dems

The Marbletown Democratic Committee will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, June 20, at 8 p.m. at the Rock Cliff House, Route 213, High Falls. All interested Democrats may attend.

LEAVING FLOOD SCENE — An attractive resident of the flooded southeastern Michigan town of Bolles Harbor gets a piggyback ride as she is evacuated from her home early Sunday. A low pressure system moving across the southern part of the state caused a sudden eight-foot rise in water levels forcing more than 250 persons from their homes. An estimated 10,000 homes were flooded in the worst flooding of the state this year. No injuries were reported. (UPI Telephoto)

Summer Rec Program Set

NEW PALTZ

Plans for the six-week summer recreation program in New Paltz have been announced by Dr. Philip Stein, director.

Events will start July 2 at the Middle School Athletic Field Bleachers at 9 a.m. Program will run Mondays through Fridays 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 4 p.m. All school age children are eligible.

In addition to all althetic activities there will be instruction in tennis, swimming, dance, crafts, dramatics, camping. Special trips and competition with other recreational groups are planned. Several evening events including a camp fire, a dramatic presentation and an awards night are scheduled.

Registration will take place in front of the Main Office Monday, June 18 Tuesday, June 19 and Wednesday, June 20, all 7 to 9 p.m. and Sunday, June 24 from 1 to 5 p.m.

A child may be registered after July 2 with the director but no child will be permitted to participate in activities unless formally registered by the parent.

Businessmen List Guest Speaker

The guest speaker for the annual dinner meeting of the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association, to be held at the Kirkland Hotel will be Dr. James J. Lorricchio, Associate Professor of Business at Ulster County Community College.

He will address the businessmen on the topic "Community College in Service to Local Businessmen". The dinner, to be held Tuesday night will begin at 7:30 p.m., with a cocktail hour to be held at 6:30.

The Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association will also elect a president and officers for the coming year.

Welfare Workers Getting Benefits, Says Inspector

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Welfare Inspector General George Berlinger said Saturday his office has uncovered 10 cases of employes in the New York City Welfare Department and other city agencies who are simultaneously receiving welfare payments.

Berlinger said the cases involve more than $100,000 in assets allegedly concealed by the city employes, most of whom were described as clerical personnel at income maintenance centers.

In a letter to city Human Resources Administrator Jule Sugarman, Berlinger sid, "I am quite disturbed by the cases we are uncovering where employes of your department and other city agencies are simultaneously receiving public assistance and concealing assets of their city employment."

Another audit report released Saturday by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said that "large numbers of employes" of the city's welfare department had been found to be "habitually late."

The audit of payroll procedures and records at 10 welfare centers found that 31 per cent of the employes at these centers were listed as having excessive tardinesses.

Old Forge Frog Contest Big Day for Fathers

OLD FORGE, N.Y. (AP) — Frog owners from 2 to 62 years of age converged on Old Forge beach Sunday for the first Father's Day Jumping Frog Contest sponsored by the Central Adirondack Association, Inc.

About 500 persons turned out to see the jumpingest, speediest and heaviest frogs around this resort, named Frogville, U.S.A. for the occasion.

Eric White of Boonville brought a hefty hopper that weighed 13.75 ounces and could barely be contained in both a mans' hands. The pet, named Jeremiah after a popular song about a notorious but friendly frog, won the biggest frog trophy. The second biggest belonged to the youngest entrant, 2-yearol-d Larry Harvey of Old Forge.

The top jumper, owned by Sandy Stripp of Old Forge, leaped five feet. And the fastest covered 15 feet in 34 seconds. That frog belonged to Dan Murphy of Big Moose.

Safety Board to Discuss Detour

KINGSTON

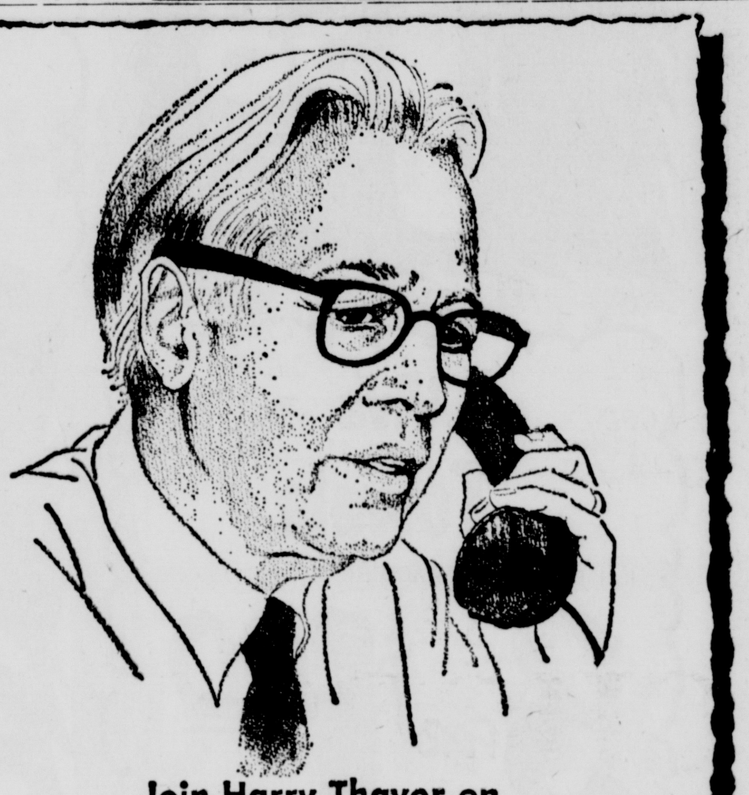

More details on the safety patrol of the Rondout Creek detour project will be discussed tonight at the regular meeting of the Ulster County Traffic Safety Board.

The 8 p.m. meeting at the County Office Building will also present results of a special meeting held with New York State Highway Safety officials June 6 at New Paltz. Chairman William Trapnell will preside.

Miller Got His Birdies and U.S. Open

FATHER'S DAY REWARD — Twenty-six-year-old Johnny Miller won the U. S. Open, and for a "Father's Day" reward from his wife, Linda, he gets a bit of admiration, and for winning the tournament he gets $35,000. He set a course record of 63 on the Oakmont Country Club on the final day. (UPI)

★ ★ Sets Record in 63

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — "When I get it going," said young John Miller, "all I think about is birdies. I'm not going for pars, I'm going for birdies.

"That's why on the tour they

★ ★ That Finish: Unbelievable

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) — They were still talking today about Johnny Miller's remarkable finish.

They were saying it not only ranked with the greatest finishes in the U.S. Open, but also alongside some of the other great ones in sports history.

Bobby Thomson's miracle home run for the New York Giants in 1951 . . . Johnny Unitas leading the Baltimore Colts to victory in 1958 in football's first sudden death . . . the 1972 Olympic basketball final between Russia and the United States at Munich.

Joe Dey, commissioner of the PGA's Tournament Players Division, put it this way:

"I don't know that there ever has been a greater finish, except perhaps Gene Sarazen's great charge at Fresh Meadow (L.I.) in 1932 when he played the last 28 holes in 100 shots (and won the Open by three).

"Miller's finish was really unbelievable," Dey said.

Set Oakmont Record

P. J. Boatwright, executive director of the U.S. Golf Association, said "I still can't believe it" after Miller had posted an eight-under-par 63 Sunday to win the 73rd U.S. Open championship at the Oakmont Country Club and earn $35,000.

Miller conquered Oakmont in the final round and broke the all-time Open and Oakmont 18-hole records in the process. His five-under-par 279 total for 72 holes was four strokes better than anyone ever had done before at Oakmont.

In his record-shattering performance, Miller, 26, of San Francisco, had to pass Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Julius Boros and others.

He was six strokes off the pace when he teed off for the final round. He then birdied the first four holes and "I was sky high and I said 'okay baby, let's go.'"

Miller picked up five more birdies and a bogey during his phenomenal round, then waited in the clubhouse while the players on the course attempted to overtake him.

They never did. John Schlee, an astrology buff who said his horoscope told him he was in "a lunar high point" and would do well in the Open, had the best chance but never quite made it.

Palmer Expressed Shock

Schlee shot a final round 70 for a 280 total and second place money of $18,000.

Tom Weiskopf finished third with a 70 and a 281 total and joked after successive back to back wins in the previous two weeks that "I'm not used to finishing third."

In a three-way tie for fourth place at 282 were Palmer, who had a final round 72; Jack Nicklaus, who had a 68 Sunday, and Lee Trevino, with a 70.

Boros, Lanny Wadkins and Jerry Heard were another stroke back at 283, matching the best previous 72-hole score ever recorded at Oakmont. The total of nine sub-par scores for the tournament tied the all-time Open record.

Palmer, shooting for a second Open championship, said he was "shocked" when he stood on the tee at the 12th hole and saw that Miller was five shots under par and leading the tournament.

"I had no idea. I thought I was in complete command," Palmer said. "I didn't have the slightest notion of what was going on."

Palmer then proceeded to bogey the next three holes to blow his chance.

Miller Was Super-Nervous

Nicklaus came into this tournament highly favored to win his fourth Open championship and a record-breaking 14th major title. But he came up too late with too little, when he knocked in birdie putts at the 16th and 17th holes.

Miller is No. 7 on the tournament money list for 1973 and had finished in the top 10 in eight of the last 17 tournaments. But before Sunday, the closest he came to winning a major championship was in the 1971 Masters.

Miller admitted that during his round he had "choked" but that he kept telling himself to "keep cool, keep cool, don't let the gallery get you excited."

"Today I was so pumped up, I was super nervous," he said. "I can honestly say I gagged on those putts on seven and eight.

"One thing I kept in my head out there all day. 'Don't shank,' I was thinking. I was thinking that on almost every iron shot. I know that's bad thinking, but I couldn't help it.

"It was always up there in my mind."

Gary Player, who led the tournament after 36 holes, shot a 73 Sunday for a 287 total. He said he was going home to South Africa and work on his golf game for about a month. call me Joe Feast or Famine."

The stringbean 26-year-old Mormon from San Francisco with the unruly shock of golden hair, the 1973 U.S. Open champion, is typical of the game's new breed—bold, aggressive, unafraid of the Devil himself.

Going into Sunday's final round over the aged Oakmont Country Club golf course, it looked as if any one of a dozen guys might win the prestigious title—but one of them wasn't Miller, six shots off the pace, discouraged over a scattershot third-round 76 and by his own admission "absolutely without desire."

It was a dramatic lineup indeed for the stretch run—Arnold Palmer, the people's choice, and 53-year-old Julius Boros tied with outsiders John Schlee and Jerry Heard for the lead, followed by gangling Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Bob Charles, Jim Colbert, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Palmer excited his wild vociferous army by leading momentarily early in the last round, then the old, smooth-swinging Boros surged to the front briefly.

Weiskopf, Schlee and the others made their pitch, but at the end of the day it was John Miller who stood on the victory rostrum with the $35,000 winner's check and the prospect of turning it into a million in the next 12 months.

He did it by shooting an Open record-63 over a course that has broken the spirits of some of the greatest figures in golf.

He did it by spewing out birdies in clusters—four in a row to start the round—and four more in the space of five holes on the incoming nine.

There were nine birdies in all, with one bogey, and the fire was so fierce that it burned off all of the challengers.

Miller won with 279, a stroke ahead of Schlee, whose chip from the fringe on the final green missed by an inch and a half from forcing a playoff, and two ahead of Weiskopf at 281. Palmer, after his early charge, fell back into a tie with defending champion Jack Nicklaus and two-time winner Lee Trevino with 282.

Miller was planning to caddie at Olympic in 1966 before he qualified. He played instead, was in contention all the way and finished eighth. He missed the cut in 1967, didn't qualify in 1968. He played the next three years, finishing 30th, fifth and seventh, respectively.

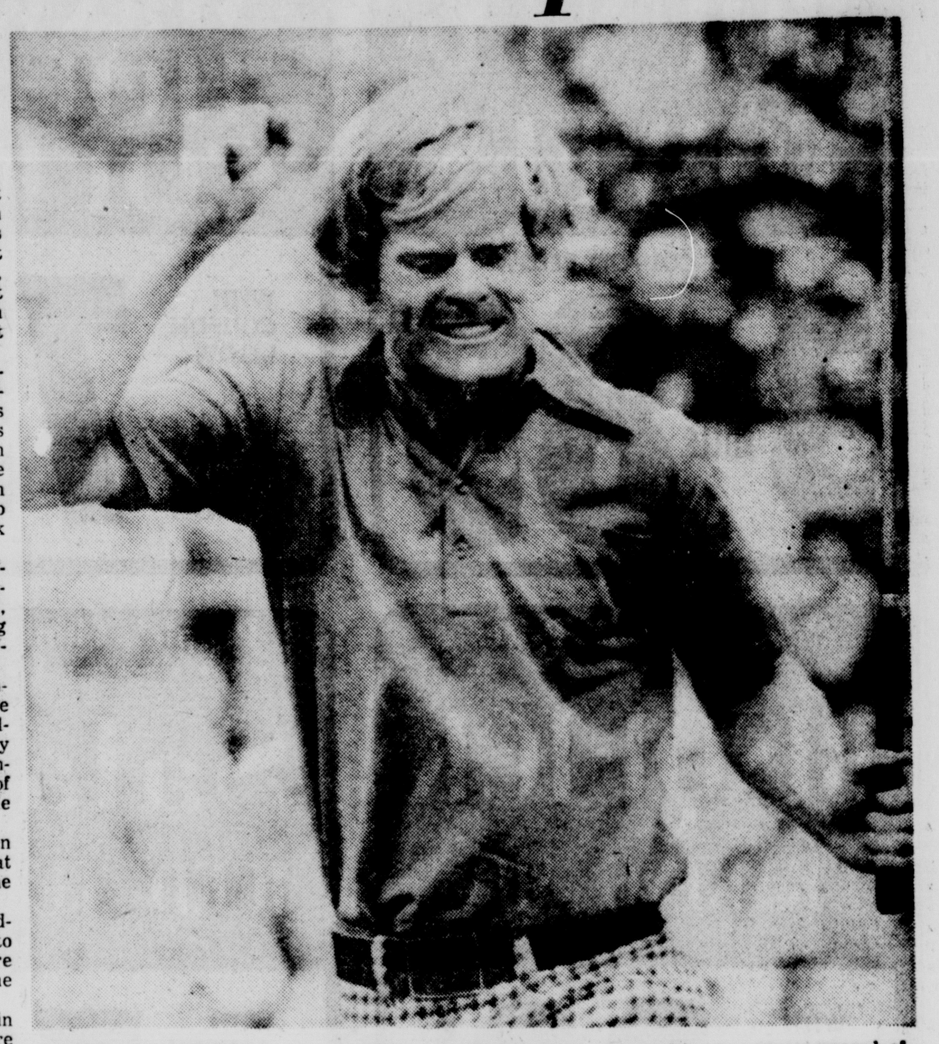

He's the first former U.S. junior champion to win the Open. He has won two tournaments but never before this year had he attained the $100,000 mark in earnings. He now has approximately $114,000.

RECORD BREAKER — Johnny Miller, a fired up young man, sets new course record of 63 and wins the U. S. Open at Oakmont Country Club. (UPI)

Bourassa Tops La Canadienne

MONTREAL (UPI) — Jocelyne Bourassa, hoping to win her first professional golf tournament, carries a one-stroke lead today into the third and final round of the $50,000 La Canadienne Golf Championship.

Miss Bourassa, who shot an even par 73 Sunday to give her a two day total of 141, has a one stroke advantage over Judy Rankin, who carded her second 71.

In third place with two round totals of 143 are Carol Mann and Jane Blalock, followed by Betsy Rawls with 144, and Sandry Haynie and Betty Burfeindt with 145 and 146 respectively. Miss Burfeindt set a course record Sunday when she fired a six under par 67.

Miss Bourassa, who missed seven of the first LPGA tournaments this year, said, "I'm starting to get my tempo back now and I'm ready for the final round. I want to win this one."

If rain should wash out today's third round, as it did Saturday's second round, Miss Bourassa stands to win anyway since the $10,000 first prize money goes to the player with the best 36-hole score.

Mary Dwyer Horner and Renee Powell, who shared second place after the first round Friday, both faltered Sunday. Miss Powell dropped to five over par 78 on the waterlogged course, while Mrs. Horner had a seven on the final hole to give her a four over par 77 for a two round total of 147, six strokes off the pace. Miss Powell has a 148.

Riva Ridge Ties Mark

BOSTON (UPI) — Whirlaway has finally been caught after 31 years.

It was in 1942 that Whirlaway streaked over the 1⅛ mile course at Suffolk Downs to win the Massachusetts handicap in a record time of 1:48 1-5. The record still stands, but Whirlaway now has company.

Mrs. John Tweedy's Riva Ridge, winner of the 1972 Kentucky Derby and Belmont stakes and a stablemate to this year's triple Crown Winner Secretariat, tied Whirlaway's mark Sunday in the 39th running of the Masscap while breezing to a 3¾ length win over Crafty Khale.

"He ran quite a race," Mrs. Tweedy said of Riva Ridge. "Look at his time, that's what really pleased me. Whirlaway was a great horse and Riva Ridge tied his record."

Braves Zero In On Orbits' 11-6

MINISINK

Skip Lyons rapped three hits and drove in five runs to power the Kingston Braves to an 11-6 Hudson Valley Rookie League victory over the Minisink Valley Orbits here Sunday.

Lyons' big hit was a double in the sixth that proved to be the margin of victory. Kingston led 5-1 going into the inning, and Rocky Secreto led off by getting in the way of a John Bendlin pitch. Mike Alecca then drew a walk, and on a sacrifice attempt by Rick Pesavento, the fielders choice was unsuccessful, and all hands were safe.

Lyons ripped a double to right to chase home two of the runners. An error by the outfielder leaked Pesavento across as Lyons took third and later scored himself on a wild pitch. A double by Jerry Hawkins and an RBI single by John Carter made the score 9-1.

Minisink tried to get back in the game in the final two frames but couldn't seriously threaten winner Tom Gallo. The losers scored twice in the sixth and three times in the seventh, but that was it as Alecca came on to mop up. Gallo fanned 13 and walked only four during his stint.

The Braves, now with a 2-1 record, struck for a pair in the first inning as Gallo singled home Pesavento and Lyons scored on a passed ball. Mike Hosling drove in a run in the third for Minisink, but that was the last time it was close. Kingston rallied for three in the fourth with Lyons again hitting to drive in two.

Lyons got his final RBI in the seventh, hitting the third consecutive single behind Pesavento and Don Hastings. An error on the relay from the outfield allowed Hastings to come across with the final Braves' run of the game.

For Allison: An Old Tune

RIVERSIDE, CALIF. (UPI) — Bobby Allison's victory Sunday in the Tuborg 400 at Riverside international Raceway—a repeat of his win two years ago—couldn't have come at a better time.

"We have had less than a delightful year so far," said the 35-year-old Hueytown, Ala., race driver, who collected a father's day present of $14,000 and his first win of the season on the Nascar Grand National Stock Car Circuit.

Averaging 100.215 miles per hour in his 1973 Chevelle, Allison led in 84 of the 153 laps in the race, staving off a last minute assault by Richard Petty, the only other driver on the final lap.

"We've been playing a catch up game all year," said Allison, who this year began building his own cars and managing his own team.

"In fact, we were the last car on the grid this morning," he said.

Both Petty and Cale Yarborough, of Timmonsville, S. C., challenged Allison through the first two thirds of the $90,000 race. Yarborough, who led for 15 laps, dropped out with a blown engine while leading on the 114th lap, when Allison finally took over for good.

Petty, the defending Nascar grand National driving champion from Randleman, N.C., driving a '73 Dodge, finished second, one minute and 13 seconds behind Allison, and collected $8,075.

Finishing third, one lap back, was Banney Parsons, Ellerbe, N.C., a former Detroit cab driver, in a '73 Chevy, and a lap behind him was Jimmy Insolo, Mission Hills, Calif., who finished fourth in a '72 Chevy.

Allison, who won the same race two years ago to turn around a disappointing season, credited this years' victory to last minute work on his car and following a recommendation to use softer tires on the righthand side and harder ones on the left.

"I was pretty sure Cale and Richard were using soft tires," Allison said. "They could outrun me for a few laps, but that was all. I could stay with them most of the time.

"Late in the race I had to go to them (soft tires) myself. But we kind of waited it out."

Allison's only serious problem came on the 68th lap when he was mementarily confused by a cloud of dust kicked up by Petty, who dropped two wheels off the track.

★ ★ ★ Schlee's Mistake

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — John Schlee guessed wrong. He told himself a one-under-par final round would be good enough for his first major golf title.

What the tall 34-year-old, a Colorado native, didn't anticipate was a record 63 by U.S. Open victor John Miller Sunday. But he was happy to be the runnerup.

"I'm just fortunate to be where I am," he said of his final round of 70 for a 280, one more stroke than Miller.

"It's great to be the runner-up."

Schlee, whose best previous finish in seven tour years was second in the 1966 St. Paul Open, was paired with Arnold Palmer and admitted Arnie's Army was a problem.

"I just couldn't settle down," he said. "Every hole the chant was 'Arnie, Arnie.' Gary Player said not to listen, but there are some things you just can't shut out."

He believed he was going to win after drilling in a 10-foot birdie two on the 16th, moving to within one of Miller, already in the clubhouse.

"I felt I would win walking up 16, up 17, but not 18," he said of the pressurized finish for America's most prestigious golf title.

Schlee said the 11th hole proved to be the demise of Palmer.

"He putted out, looked at the scoreboard and was shocked to see he wasn't leading," Miller was. "It took the fire right out of him," Schlee said of Palmer, who bogeyed the next three holes.

Undefeated Tamerlane Heads for Triple Crown

Tamerlane, a three-year-old colt unbeaten in a short four-race career, has crossed the first hurdle to winning the Trotting Triple Crown.

Picked as second by the crowd Saturday night in the $93,242 Yonkers Futurity at Yonkers Raceway, Tamerlane went forward at the end of the first quarter and beat first-rated Knightly Way by 2 lengths.

Charley Clark was in the bike for the winning mile timed in 2:04 4-5. Tamerlane paid off $6, $2.10 and $2.10.

Manuel was a neck behind Knightly Way at the wire.

The next race in the Triple Crown is the Hambletonian at Duquoin, Ill., on August 29. Cark said Tamerlane will compete at Brandywine, Saratoga and Roosevelt before then.

In other harness action Saturday night, Adioo Bob came forward in the stretch to beat Dean Butler and show horse Fortune Paul in a $10,000 pace at Monticello. The victory by two lengths was the second in a row for Adioo Bob, timed in 2:00 3-5 and returning $4, $2.80 and $2.40.

Skipper Thorpe beat Sampan by a nose in 2:01 on the muddy Vernon Downs track to collect winner's share in the $4,000 invitational pace. Hy Minbar was third. The winner, piloted by Ben Webster, returned $3.40, $2.80 and $2.20.

WHO SAYS OUR VOLVO WAGON CAN'T CARRY A LOAD OF 4'x8' PLYWOOD?
Some car dealers make a big thing of plywood sheets fitting inside their wagons. Our Volvo 145 was built for people and luggage. It'll hold two front seat passengers up to 6'6½", three in back with legroom equal to an Olds Vista Cruiser, and 12 two-suiters. Or you can put down the back seat and fit in a six-foot sofa. For carrying plywood, we carry roof racks.

Barthel Leads County Golf by Eight Strokes

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

ACCORD

Richard (Rick) Barthel, the 1963 champion, was the only golfer in the 60-player Ulster County Amateur Championship field to match par of 142 at Wiltwyck and Rondout over the weekend. And that left him with a whopping eight-stroke lead over the pack after 36 holes of play.

While the Onteora High School coach, who fired a 4-under-par 68 Saturday at Wiltwyck, was touring Rondout's windswept layout in four over par 38-36-74 Sunday, his two main challengers, defending champion Harvey Bostic and eight-time kingpin Leon Randall of Wiltwyck, were experiencing their worst day in many years to fall eight and 16 strokes, respectively, behind the handsome leader.

Randall, two shots behind Barthel after a 2-under-par 70 on Saturday, soared to 42-38-80 Sunday, his highest round since he posted an 88 in the 1952 tournament.

Bostic had even more difficulty with the flat, open and often deceptive Rondout where three out-of-bounds balls contributed to an unbelievable 46-39-85, the highest score he ever shot in the county championship.

Randall's 150 left him eight shots behind the leader, but Bostic, seeking to become the second player ever to win three tournaments in a row, found himself 16 strokes off the pace in a three-way tie at 158 with two Wiltwyck members — Brian Smith and Harold Van Aken.

John Buoymaster, who learned some of his golf savvy under Barthel at Onteora High, had third place all by himself with 154. He shot 78 Saturday and his 39-37-76 Sunday was the second best round of the day at Rondout.

Three-time champion Bill Van Aken of Wiltwyck shared a three-way tie at 157, with Frank Weller of Sawyerkill and Mike Mangi of Rondout. Van Aken posted 41-37-78, Weller had 42-37-79 and Mangi, one of the surprises in the qualifying rounds, carded 38-42-80.

Form Coughlin, who scored an ace at Wiltwyck's 16th Saturday, was in 10th place with 159 and Vick Hake of Wiltwyck and Eric Kreiger of Ellenville tied at 160.

There were very few in the field of 30 survivors who thought Barthel could be overtaken in the third and fourth rounds at Locust Tree (Saturday) and the finale at Sawyerkill on Sunday

"Those two courses are not the kind you can pick up too many strokes," said a veteran county observer. "If he keeps putting like he has been he's going to be hard to stop."

Barthel, with characteristic reserve, said he felt confident and was hitting the ball extremely well. It was also pointed out that he played the entire 36 holes without a double bogey.

"You can never count Leon (Randall) out, not with 36 holes left to play," Barthel warned himself.

The leader revealed his game plan as "keeping the ball in play."

"I tried to avoid double-bogeys," Barthel explained. "On the front nine, I was pretty much aware of Leon and Harvey. On the second nine I decided to play a little more boldly."

Barthel carded his two birdies on the fourth and sixth holes the second time around Sunday He canned a 4-footer on the fourth and a 15-footer on the sixth. He had 33 putts for the day, was driving well and missed few greens in regulation.

CHIP SHOTS:

A bewildering variety of British type weather sent scores soaring throughout the day. In the morning heavy winds and numbing temperatures (for June) sent scores soaring. In the afternoon the winds slackened perceptibly but the greens turned hard and slick . . No player missed the 168 cutoff by a stroke . . . Three Locust Tree players — Charlie Stauffer, Si Pesavento and Bob Rizzuti missed it by two. How about Werner Kolln, five shots of the pace . . . but he racked up 20 strokes on two holes over the weekend — a 10 on Wiltwyck's seventh Saturday and another 10 at Rondout's murderous second. No question about Rondout's No. 1 and No. 2 are the toughest starting holes in the county — pure murder under Sunday's weather conditions.

Ron Was Nervous

NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing like a home run to ease the jitters of playing in your third major league game.

Ask Ron Hodges, a 24-year-old rookie recently promoted from Memphis in the Mets' farm system. He walloped a tie-breaking homer in the seventh inning that powered New York to a 3-1 victory Sunday over the slumping San Diego Padres.

"I was a bit nervous when they called me up," Hodges said. "But I feel very much at ease now."

Wayne Garrett added a run-scoring single in the eighth that sealed the Mets' fifth straight triumph.

When Hodges came up to bat with one out in the seventh and the score tied 1-1, Manager Yogi Berra called him back for some strategy.

"I told him that if he got on base, be sure he knew the bunt sign," Berra said. "We would probably have tried to sacrifice him to second."

The strategy wasn't needed, as Hodges belted a one-two pitch into the Met bullpen.

"It was a fastball, right over the plate," Hodges said about loser Bill Greif's (4-9) pitch. "I wasn't thinking home run at the time but the pitch was there and I got my bat onto it."

Berra seemed pleased with the rookie catcher whom he first scouted last fall in the Florida Instructional League.

"He's primarily a line-drive hitter, but can jack it out of the park once in a while," said Berra. "He's a mature kid with fast hands and a good head. He's no kid."

The Mets scored in the first inning when Felix Millan singled, advanced to second on Rusty Staub's single and scored when John Milner's grounder went between second baseman Derrel Thomas' legs for an error. The Padres tied it in the seventh on singles by Nate Colbert and Clarence Gaston, Fred Kendall's sacrifice bunt and Dave Roberts' grounder.

Roger Metzger Man on Move

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you're not impressed with Roger Metzger's .249 batting average, it's a good thing you weren't looking at his numbers a few weeks ago. The first one then was a zero and when you start that way, the other two don't really matter.

Metzger ripped four straight singles Sunday—his first perfect day ever in the major leagues—helping Houston to a 7-3 victory over St. Louis. The Astros' shortstop also scored two runs and drove in another.

"He's been hitting about .400 the last six weeks," said Leo Durocher, manager of the Astros. "That's quite a jump for the kid. He was hitting .075 at one time."

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles took over first place in the West Division, beating Montreal 3-2 in 12 innings while Philadelphia was outslugging San Francisco 11-7, New York beat San Diego 3-1, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, winning the first game 3-1 and the second 5-1 and Chicago split a doubleheader with Atlanta, winning the first game 9-3 but dropping the second 8-5.

Metzger wasn't the only NL player with four hits Sunday. Willie Montanez had a quartet against San Francisco, pacing Philadelphia to its victory over the Giants, who have dropped seven of their last nine games and slipped one-half game back of Los Angeles. Montanez drove in four runs, three of them with his fifth homer.

The four hits gave Montanez 19 in his last 59 swings, a .322 pace that has raised his season's average to .268. The Dodgers, limited to a scratch single for eight innings against Montreal's Mike Torrez, scored the tying run in the ninth and then battled into the 12th to beat Montreal.

Tom Hall retired 11 straight batters in relief, saving Jack Billingham's ninth victory of the season and Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh in the first game of their doubleheader.

In the nightcap, the Reds packed all their runs in the third inning with Johnny Bench and Bill Plummer contributing key doubles to the rally.

Carmen Fanzone and Jose Cardenal hit a pair of two-run homers, helping Chicago defeat Atlanta in the first game of their doubleheader.

In the second game, Deron Johnson ripped a three-run pinch homer in the seventh inning to give the Braves a 5-4 edge. After the Cubs tied it in the eighth, Marty Perez singled home the go-ahead run and then Dick Dietz delivered a pinch single for two more, giving the Braves the victory.

SHOWBOAT — Yankee Manager Ralph Houk kicks the dirt (L) uses his fist to make a point (C) and turns for a final word (R) after he was ejected from the game in Anaheim Calif., Sunday. Houk protested a call by third base umpire Jim Odom who said Graig Nettles went around for a strike three with bases loaded. The Angels had scored eight runs in the first two innings which added to the mood of Houk. (UPI)

McDowell's Heart Not Like Old One

ANAHEIM (AP) — Sam McDowell still has heart, but it flutters a little more frequently than before.

"I can remember when I'd walk the bases loaded and then strike out the side," he said with a wide smile Sunday afternoon. "But my heart can't take that stuff anymore."

McDowell, making his first start for New York since he was purchased from the San Francisco Giants on June 7, stopped California on four hits over seven innings and enabled the Yankees to earn a split in their doubleheader.

McDowell, with relief from Sparky Lyle, hurled the Yanks to a 5-1 triumph after Clyde Wright threw a six-hitter in the opener as the Angels prevailed, 8-0.

The split left New York in third place in the American League East, 1½ games behind Milwaukee while the Angels are fifth in the West, 2½ benind Chicago.

"The only thing I didn't care for were all those walks," McDowell said. He issued seven and left the game after a single by Sandy Alomar and a walk to Rich Scheinblum with two out in the seventh.

Lyle came on to gain his 16th save. He has saved each of New York's last nine triumps.

Wright fought off a sore back to blank the Yanks in the opener as the Angels made it easy for him, scoring four times in each of the first and second innings.

"For a guy like me to throw a shutout is like somebody else throwing a no-hitter," remarked Wright, whose fastball has three speeds — slow, slower and stop.

"But there's nothing like a victory to make you forget about all your ailments. My back is still bothering me a little but I'm taking heat treatments and they help. I'll just have to live with it."

Ken Berry's three-run homer capped California's four-run first inning in the opener and Jeff Torborg hit a solo shot in the second off loser Fritz Peterson, 6-7. It was Torborg's first home run since 1970.

Berry had three hits in the opener, as did Vada Pinson. One of Pinson's was his 2,500th as he became the 475th player in major league history to reach that plateau.

Graig Nettles slammed a two-run homer off Rich Hand to highlight New York's four-run first inning in the second game. Nettles later added a double to pace the Yanks' 10-hit attack.

Berry had two singles in the second game for California, raising his average to .302, highest among the Angels.

Steve Barber replaced Hand in the first inning for California and stopped New York on one run and four hits for the next seven rounds, prompting Angel skipper Bobby Winkles to remark: "Maybe I should have started him."

Rodriguez: The Spark

Catcher Ellie Rodriguez, according to manager Del Crandall, is the spark that keeps the Milwaukee Brewers moving.

"In my opinion Rodriguez has been the big sparkplug on this team," says Crandall. "Ellie has been so great that (Darrell) Porter has not been able to break in."

Porter got his chance Sunday and made the most of it as he and designated hitter Joe Lahoud each slapped grand slam homers in consecutive innings to lift the streaking Brewers to a 15-5 pounding over the Chicago White Sox.

Sitting atop the American League East by one full game over Baltimore, the victorious Brewers marked their 14th win in their last 15 games, their ninth in a row and six straight over the Chisox. In he sixth inning, Lahoud homered again, tying a club record with 6 RBI's in a single game.

Righthander Stan Bahnsen, who threw the grandslam pitch to Porter in the second inning, was lifted after consecutive singles by Don Money and Dave May in Milwaukees' six-run third. The hit gave Porter his first major league homer and Jerry Bell, the Milwaukee starter, his seventh triumph against six defeats. Bell departed after five innings and a 14-1 lead.

In other American League games, Kansas City won a doubleheader from Cleveland 6-3, and 6-2, Boston trimmed Oakland 4-2, Detroit shutout Minnesota 6-0, Baltimore nipped Texas 5-4 in 16 innings and New York tripped California 5-1 in the second game but lost the first, 8-0

Amos Otis drove in three runs with a two-run homer and a single and Dick Drago, 7-5, hurled his seventh complete game in his last 11 starts to pace the Royals to a victory over Cleveland in the first game of a doubleheader. Ken Wright allowed three hits in 8 1-3 innings to boost his record to 2-1 with the second game victory. The two game sweep moved the Royals to within one half game of first place in the Western Division.

Luis Tiant gave up just four hits, two of them homers by Reggie Jackson, and Danny Cater drove in two runs and rapped out four hits to give the Bosox a victory over the A's. Tiant was touched for Jackson's 12th and 13th homers in the sixth and ninth innings.

Comeback For Ellis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Ellis has a wife, six children, a spiritual singing group and a semi-pro basketball team to support, so he's got to keep boxing, and winning.

While the heavyweight division has lain dormant since George Foreman took the title away from Joe Frazier and Ken Norton broke Muhammad Ali's jaw, Ellis has gone about his trade in quiet fashion but with devestating effect.

But Ellis' 12-rounder with Earnie Shavers of Warren, Ohio, at Madison Square Garden tonight is the start of three months of hectic activity in the division which could, with smart management and some luck, see the winner challenge for the title.

Frazier, his hurt healed and his pride restored, heads for London and a meeting with European champion Joe Bugner; Foreman travels to the Orient to meet Joe Ramon with his title on the line in Tokyo, while Ali, his lip buttoned for the first time in his career, plans to square accounts with Norton.

Piraino Trails In Match Play

SEATTLE (AP) — John Handegaard, Eugene, Ore., held a slim 20 pin lead over Marty Piraino, Syracuse, N.Y. following the first round of match play Sunday in the $35,000 Seattle Open Bowling Tournament at Ballinger Bowl here.

The 35-year Handegaard, a pro, spilled 3969 sticks in the 18-game qualifier. Piraino, at 49 the oldest regular on the tour, shot a 300 in the final qualifying session, and then almost duplicated

Jody Scheckter Has Wide Lead in Formula 500

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (UPI) — Jody Scheckter added "luck" to his youthful driving ability today in gaining a commanding lead over the Formula 5000 field.

Scheckter, a 23-year-old wheelman who dominated the European Formula 2 and 3 class the last few years, won his fourth consecutive L&M race Sunday in a rented Lola Chevy that replaced a Winston Trojan he racked up in a Friday practice session.

"I only had 12 laps around the course in the new car prior to Saturday's qualifying session," Scheckter said. "I was lucky that we were able to put everything together. It was a bit of surprise almost winning the pole position and then actually winning the race."

Scheckter's skill with the strange car was obvious from the start of the 30-lap, 101-mile race over the 33-mile Watkins Glen Grand Prix course. He opened an eight-car length lead soon after the start and when the checkered flag fell, he was 4.6 seconds ahead of Britain's Brian Redman.

The victory was worth $23,250 and raised Scheckter's earnings for the year to $87,350. He leads the L&M standings with 95 points, 40 more than Redman, who earned $14,000 for his second place finish. Redman owns the other victory in the five series events contested this season. There are four remaining.

Scheckter twice broke the track lap record during the race. The second time he smashed the standard was in the 16th lap when he was clocked in one-minute, 42.067 seconds at a speed of 119.110 miles an hour. He averaged 117.468 mph for the race.

"I had one familiar friend in the car," Scheckter quipped. "We used a spare engine which we brought over from England. The difference between handling the Trojan and Lola was quite vast. The Lola was an unproven car in my opinion because it had only been in two races."

Scheckter's driving ability is impressive. He never shrugs off a challenge. Last year, Scheckter entered his first Formula 1 race in the U.S. Grand Prix here and was running fourth when his works McLaren car spun out and he finished ninth.

Has the Formula 5000 competition become too weak for him?

"No," Scheckter says with emphasis. "On the contrary, I'm still learning slowly and there are many good drivers competing in this series."

Lola dominated Sunday's race as it swept the first six places. Brett Lunger, an ex-Marine and DuPont heir from Pomona, Calif., was third and Mark Donohue of Newtown Square, Pa., finished fourth. Eppie Wietzes of Canada brought his Lola in fifth and David Hobbs of England was sixth.

Maurice Carter became the first Canadian driver to win a Trans-Am race this year when he captured the fog-shortened Sports Car Club of America-sanctioned event Saturday in a Camaro at an average speed of 89.501 mph. It was the first time a Trans-Am race was ever curtailed by weather.

"I knew I was ahead when the fog came in and the red flag went down," said the 49-year-old auto dealer from Hamilton, Ont. "I was hoping the fog wouldn't go away and I would be declared the winner."

Peer Gregg of Jacksonville, Fla., was second in a Porsche Carrera and John Greenwood of Troy, Mich., was third in a Corvette as the 92-lap race was ended after 72 laps.

Sweden's Bertil Roos won the Formula Super Vee event Saturday, averaging 86.713 mph in a Tui BH3-VW for 20 laps.

Blind Runner Goes Nine Miles

CAPE ELIZABETH, Maine (AP) — A blind man from Flushing, Queens, Joe Pardo, has run in the Jaycee's Nine-Mile Road Race here for the second straight year.

The gutsy runner was guided around the chilly, wet course by two high school students on bikes. He also used a cane to test the road surface.

The 50-year-old athlete placed 24th in a field of 34 Saturday and finished second in the 50-60 age bracket.

Ken Flanders of Northeastern University broke his own record in the race with a winning time of 45:03.8.

It's now or never.
Because bank-wide gift promotions will soon be a thing of the past.

Right now is your last chance ever to receive a free gift for opening or adding to a savings account at any of Heritage Savings Banks' three offices.

New state banking regulations prohibit all bank-wide gift promotions after June 30th. From that date on, gift promotions can be conducted only at the grand opening of a new office, and gifts given for new accounts only.

So beat that deadline. Come in to Heritage and claim your free gift from among the 21 shown here for depositing $500 or more. Your selection category depends, of course, on the amount of your deposit.

You'll receive not only a free gift, but the highest interest permitted by law on all accounts. For example, your money earns 5% interest on regular and day-of-deposit to day-of-withdrawal accounts, with an effective annual yield of 5.20% as long as interest is allowed to accumulate. We also offer certificates of deposit, with higher interest rates. Our 6% term account, for example, which has an effective annual yield of 6.27% (minimum deposit $1000, two to five years) if interest is left to accumulate.

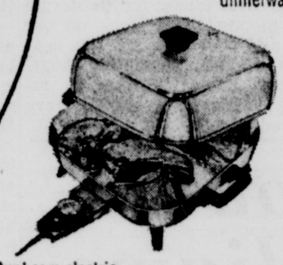

It's now or never. So, better act now. Just keep two things in mind: minimum deposits must remain in accounts for at least a year; and, only one gift per account while the supply lasts. So bring or mail your passbook from another bank now. You'll receive your gift.

And we'll transfer your account automatically.

Deposit $5000 or more and choose one of these free gifts.*

Both Sides Air Views On Adirondack State Park

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — The controversial land-use plan, set to regulate the six million acre Adirondack Park beginning Aug. 1, was the subject of the third annual Adirondack conference sponsored by Saint Lawrence University this weekend.

Baird Edmonds, Keene town planning board chairman, presented the developers point of view when he told the conference he doubts whether the regulations will make conservationists any happier in three decades than they would be without the plan.

Assemblyman Peter Berle gave the conference another view when he told the delegates by phone that the plan "represents a real thought-out means of enhancing the value of the Adirondacks rather than destroying them or destroying private property."

Waddington Assemblyman K. Daniel Haley described the plan as a pioneering venture, a new concept in land planning that, he said, is the first to be implemented in this country and perhaps the world.

Edmonds predicted that the state will have to buy Adirondack lands to accomplish the goals set forth in the land-use plan, but he said he hopes that alternate methods of preserving the natural state of the land can be found.

Paul McGreevey of Ausable Acres Inc., of Jay, said he believes the plan will be rendered unrecognizable within a year by changes that will have to be made. He added that he does not believe the plan will halt development.

Another developer, Richard Purdue of Lake Snow Estates in Indian Lake, said he believes the plan will be made practical by changes. "It's going to take a lot of work with a relaxation of tensions along the battle front," he said.

The plan was also attacked by Peter Van de Water of Canton, chairman of Citizens to Save the Adirondacks. He criticized some parts of the plan for being too too loose and urged the Adirondack Park Agency to implement the restrictions "with courage and vision."

NO ONE IS BORN A GREAT SALESMAN

It takes hard work, a good product line and a company that believes training and supporting their field sales force is the most important part of the business.

We know! Every year ABCO adds more great salesmen to the field. Some started with no sales experience at all. We like to think our "family" approach to running a sales organization is part of the answer. We take a personal interest in the success of every person. You start with a comfortable draw . . . up to $300 per week . . . and an extra high commission schedule. Your training, both classroom and field, never stops. Does it work? Our successful salesmen earn $15,000 to $25,000 their first year! Every industrial plant, institution and municipality is a potential account. We need every qualified person we can find to double our sales force this year. If you are a persuasive self-starter, we'd like to talk with you.

Call Mr. Win Sandler at (518) 463-1121, Holiday Inn—Albany (Menands), on Monday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., or Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. If out-of-town call collect.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, June 19

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day of opportunity — that is, you have big benefits awaiting you, but you have to do something about them to reap the fine possibilities. Combine the best of the past with new and modern systems to be able to utilize to greatest effectiveness. Charm others and accept compliments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Excellent ideas occur to you that can produce far better results with whatever projects you are working on. Show associates how much you appreciate, value them. Gain their further cooperation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Sitting down with kin and talking over how to handle financial affairs better so that there is plenty of money in the future is wise. Study new outlets that have real potential. Know yourself.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can gain some cherished personal aim with the assistance of good pals and closest tie. You have fine talents that should be highlighted. Avoid one who wants to drag you down to his or her level.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you make improvements on present holdings, you add to their value, and that is a way of progressing. Go to a business expert if you aren't sure how to handle some money matter. Have fun socially in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Improve whatever you own with a modern touch and be pleasant with those who mean a good deal to you. Make it a point to introduce friends to other friends you have. Show more regard for others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get together with experts so you can plan your future more wisely. Get into these secret activities that pave the way better for you. Stop being so lackadaisical. Action is the keynote.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show more devotion to good friends and accept others as friends now whom you have not been sure of before. Some aim you have had for a long time can now be realized. Try to put more happiness into your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show any bigwigs you know that you are loyal and reliable and you get more support from them. A good day for civic work that can be helpful to you and those within your own community. Think.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Open yourself to new opportunities and outlets that could make your life much happier and more prosperous. Get the data you need for that trip you are contemplating. More devotion to kin is important now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy with insurance and governmental concerns and other practical matters of importance early in day so your affairs are in good order. Praise your mate to another whose aid is needed by him or her. This can be a fun evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) That partnership arrangement of long standing may require small changes, so make them in a friendly fashion. Study promises given and look at them from the policy level. Then you know exactly what should be done.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do something to relieve the tension between you and a co-worker; then you can accomplish more. Put more work into your home so it looks more attractive. Use greater imagination on your job, too.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY. . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who would do well in activities big in scope, since there is the ability here to get along famously with people of power and influence. Give as fine an education as you can so your youngster will feel at home in any environment, can deal with the biggest. A government connection is excellent here, or work with large establishments. Give the ethical training that builds character.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Barbs

By PHIL PASTORET

The upcoming July 4 holiday period will make the Memorial Day smashups at Indy look like a kiddie car race.

Happiness is eating out — with the boss picking up the check.

Every company has an invisible employe — the little guy who takes the elevator to the top when you're at the bottom — and vice versa.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PHIL: (Q.) For the most of the school year of 1971-72 Becky and I went out together. In March of 1972 we broke up and she started going out with Phil. She went with him 'til the spring of this year. Now she is going with me again.

She talks about Phil just an awful lot of the time. This makes me mad for two reasons. First, I think he is her first choice. And second, I think if he asked her to she would drop me and start going out with him again.

During that time we were broken up I was really hurt and lonely. Do you think she will leave me again? — Jealous in New Jersey.

(A.) Becky is going out with YOU. One of the best possible ways to get her to go out with Phil (or someone else) is to low-rate yourself. That is what you are doing, either openly or in secret, when you are with her.

Stop it.

When she talks about Phil, be calm. Do not snap at her or freeze up or start an argument. When she sees that talking about Phil doesn't get a big reaction out of you she will stop talking about Phil.

STEADY SIGH: (Q.) My older brother is an amateur singer and dancer. In the spring the cast of one of our school musicals had a party and he invited me to go with him.

At the party I met Jeffrey. He is one of the nicest boys I have ever known. We went out a couple of times on trial and then became steadies. It was very serious. But an old old friend of his wanted him to go to an end-of-school dance with her and I said OK.

After the dance Jeffrey said he didn't want to be tied down any more. He said he would keep in touch. He hasn't. I haven't received ONE phone call. What can I do to get him to ask me out again besides letting the candle burn?—Out of Action in Alabama.

(A.) You cannot really do ANYTHING sensible except to be friendly to Jeffrey when and if you see him.

Do not call him on the telephone. Do not write him. If you see him do not drop any dark hints about desertion or dates or anything else. He told you in so many words he was going to try his wings. He is trying them. You can't stop him.

If he decides to get back in touch with you he will.

If I were you, I would not wait for that. I would start making new dates with new boys.

Some Television Notes

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Notes to watch television by:

The Programs: On June 28, CBS-TV will present an hour documentary described by the network as "a behind-the-scenes account of how television news covered a breaking news story—the demonstrations at the 1972 National Republican Convention" . . . the title of the hour is "Anatomy of a News Story," and the producer-reporter-co-director of the broadcast, John Sharnik, says it is "a self examination, which CBS News intends to do more of in the future."

Another CBS-TV June 28 documentary hour is described by the network as "a look at problems of Social Security recipients," and is entitled "You'll Get Yours When You're 65" . . . both this program and "Anatomy of a News Story" are offerings of the long-running, periodic "CBS Reports" series.

On July 8, the 12-week summer video program "CBS News Retrospective," a collection of past documentaries, begins with an hour recalling the showdowns between Reporter-Commentator Edward R. Murrow and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy on the television series "See It Now" in 1954.

New York and Los Angeles ratings for the live, televised Senate Watergate hearings continue this week to be competitive with the ratings of programs opposite them as NBC, CBS and ABC take turns carrying the proceedings on different days.

The Headliners: Marlon Brando's publicized outing on Dick Cavett's ABC-TV series this past Tuesday night brought the program potent ratings in the spot overnight statistics for Los Angeles and New York, beating out NBC-TV's Tonight show.

Sportscaster Howard Cosell, who usually does his stuff for ABC-TV, will be the guest commentator for NBC-TV's Monday Night Baseball Game of June 25 (Detroit Tigers at Boston Red Sox), joining regulars Curt Gowdy and Tony Kubek.

Footnote: A recent late-night ABC-TV broadcast that featured Cosell—he was roasted by show business and sports celebrities at a testimonial dinner — clobbered competition programming in the ratings.

Guest commentator for tonight's NBC-TV baseball game (California Angels at Chicago White Sox) will be Dave Debusschere, who gave up a major league baseball pitching career and became a top pro basketball star, well known by sports televiewers in recent years as a member of the New York Knicks.

Stories by the distinguished author Isaac Bashevis Singer are the basis for Sunday's one-hour NBC-TV "Eternal Light" drama, "Zlateh the Goat," with the adaptation drawing on the writer's memories of life in pre-World War I Poland.

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Jim: "West was pretty sure of two things. The first thing was that his opponents were probably going to make a slam and win a big rubber. The second was that his partner almost surely held an ace."

Oswald: "He could also be sure that an attacking lead in either diamonds or clubs was called for. What sort of player was East?"

Jim: "A very conservative one."

Oswald: "In that case a diamond lead was called for. East might well hold the ace of diamonds and not have doubled North's five-diamond bid."

Jim: "West did come to that conclusion and did lead the four of diamonds."

Oswald: "It looks as if Wests' lead worked out well, but for the wrong reason. South must have refused the diamond finesse; knocked out East's ace of spades and tired unsuccessfully to get two clubs discards on dummy's spades."

Jim: "Exactly so! Against a club opening South would have been forced to win the trick; take the diamond finesse; discard the 10 of spades on the diamond ace; lead the king of spades from dummy for a ruffing finesse; get back to dummy with the nine of trumps and get one club discard on the spades.

Oswald: "A tough play, but the only one. Against a quiet trump lead South would just draw trumps; knock out the ace of spades and claim."

Release Sought of U.S. Pilot Captured After Truce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials in Laos are attempting to obtain the release of the first acknowledged American prisoner of war captured since the cease-fire.

He is Emmet Kay, from Honolulu. The small propeller-driven plane he was piloting went down May 7 over Communist territory while he was flying in bad weather to a Laotian government outpost at Bouam Long near the Plain of Jars.

Kay's capture was disclosed June 1 after Pathet Lao officials announced they had captured an American major.

U.S. officials, however, contended he was a civilian pilot flying for the contract airline, Continental Air Services,Inc. A congressional investigator said Kay probably was flying for the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), but a spokesman for Continental said this was not the case.

The State Department acknowledged Friday that officials from the U.S. Embassy in Vietiane had been meeting with Communist Pathet Lao officials to discuss terms for Kay's release.

Whatever Kay's status—civilian or military — he was the first American acknowledged to have been taken prisoner since the Indochina accords went into effect and U.S. prisoners taken in the long war were returned.

Two American military pilots are listed as missing in action in Cambodia in the post Vietnam cease-fire period. There has been no word from Cambodian Communist officials as to whether they are prisoners.

Officials in Vientiane, the Laotian capital, said Kay was on a "routine" mission when his plane went down. He reportedly was ferrying at least four CIA-recruited guerrilla soldiers.

Congressional reports suggested Kay, who is from Honolulu, was one of perhaps more than 500 Americans working for contract airlines and carrying supplies and irregular troops hired by the CIA to fight the Communists in Laos. This CIA activity has been going on since 1962. The CIA refused to make any comment about the case.

However, congressional investigator Richard M. Moose, sent to Laos three times to probe the "secret war" for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has reported that Continental Air Services is one of three main charter carriers doing work for the CIA.

A spokesman for Continental, contacted in California, was asked if Kay was flying for the CIA. He replied: "No. Air America is the CIA's airline. Everybody is always confusing us with them It's a pain in the neck." The spokesman said Continental in Laos usually flies missions under contract to the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID.)

Moose, however, told UPI in a telephone interview that all U.S. government flying contracts in Laos are issued through AID, which then bills the agency that actually uses the airplane.

Three Peacekeeping Copters Fired at in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Three peacekeeping helicopters were fired at Sunday and today. One was hit and two were forced down, but no casualties were reported.

Meanwhile, the Saigon command reported more than 100 violations of the new cease-fire during each of the first two days it has been in effect. But it said that the number of incidents had dropped to 77 during the 24-hour period ending at dawn today.

In the latest chopper incident, a helicopter of the International Commission Control and Supervision came under small arms fire on a resupply mission to Pleiku in the central highlands. The helicopter landed safely at Pleiku.

The commission said both Viet Cong and government forces were interspersed in the area where the chopper came under fire, about 11 miles southeast of Pleiku.

Two peacekeeping helicopters carrying 23 persons were fired on Sunday over Communist-controlled territory near An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. One of the aircraft was hit but both landed safely at An Loc with no casualties.

Canadian officials said the Viet Cong had given a written guarantee for the two helicopters to return from An Loc Tuesday to the regional peacekeeping headquarters at Bien Hoa, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

The number of cease-fire violations being reported by the Saigon command appeared to be about the same as the average number prior to the time when the supposedly strengthened cease-fire went into effect at noon last Friday.

In Cambodia, where there is no cease-fire, delayed reports said that an eighth U.S. aircraft has been lost there since the original Vietnam truce agreement was signed in Paris Jan. 27.

First Class Mail Rate Hike Is Predicted for January

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service probably will raise first class mail rates from 8 cents to 10 cents next January to meet increased labor costs.

Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen said Sunday that "in all likelihood" the Postal Service will ask the Postal Rate Commission in September for the increase.

"I think we'll recommend a 10-cent stamp," Klassen said. "That's how we see the situation now."

Klassen was interviewed by U.S. News and World Report magazine.

The increase would raise an additional $1 billion a year, Klassen said, and most of the sum would go to cover "very substantial wage increases" granted postal employes over the past few years.

Klassen conceded this was "a great deal of money . . . but so is the cost of union proposals."

Labor costs continue to rise, Klassen said, a'though the Postal Service has reduced its personnel by 37,500 since July 1, 1971. He estimated 85 per cent of the Postal Service's costs are "wage-related."

The Postmaster General said it was possible airmail would be abandoned in the future. He said this depended on negotiations with the airlines for guaranteed space.

"I don't know whether we will keep airmail or not," he said. "I have some real concern about whether or not we can give that kind of service."

The use of airmail is declining, despite a recent promotion campaign, Klassen said.

"I guess people feel it isn't worth that extra 3 cents for airmail," he said.

Klassen said special delivery was too costly and inefficient at 60 cents. He said the customer was "not getting the kind of service he's entitled to have and we're losing money."

"We ought to either charge him what it costs to do it or give it up," Klassen said.

More Aid for Cities, Governors Are Assured

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The nation's cities will be getting more federal aid than ever, a Nixon administration official assured the 41st Conference of Mayors Sunday.

The statement from James T. Lynn, secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), came in rebuttal to criticism from host Mayor Joseph Alioto, who charged the cities have become "orphans" under the Nixon administration.

"We have never known who was in charge in the cities for Nixon," the San Francisco mayor said on the NBC television program "Meet the Press."

Lynn denied this, saying the cities were "not orphans at all, but vital elements in domestic planning."

He added that under the Beter Communities Act (BCA), 30 out of 50 of the nation's cities would receive more federal aid in the future than they do under existing grant-in-aid programs.

BCA would provide direct grants to cities and states for programs to be determined by local governments rather than by federal mandate, he said.

Lynn also denied that older cities with Democratic voting records would come out on the short end of distributions. He said New York, for example, will get $700 million in the next five years, compared with $378 million received during the past five years.

Mayor Louie Welch of Houston, Tex., another of the six mayors on "Meet the Press," said the main problem concerning the more than 800 municipal officials representing 50 states and Puerto Rico at the conference is the "gap" between federal revenue sharing funds and federal funds made available for specific problems.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON

Vote No on 11 Ward Plan on June 19

By voting NO you will retain the 13 Wards mandated by our City Charter

The 11 Ward plan makes drastic changes to existing Ward boundaries and Polling places resulting in unnecessary confusion.

With the reduction in population retaining 13 Wards will give the Citizens of Kingston better representation.

Reducing the number of Wards from 13 to 11 will not reduce the number of Committees required for the proper functioning of our City Government but will reduce the number of Aldermen available to serve on these Committees. This means our City Government will be impaired and our Citizens will suffer.

The saving that can be realized by eliminating two Aldermen is minimal.

The 11-Ward Plan as proposed would have four incumbent Aldermen residing in two Wards to be consolidated, which in effect would be legislating two Aldermen out of office. Only the Voters should have the right to vote anyone in or out of office once they have been elected.

The proposed 11-Ward Plan reduces significantly the representation which is currently maintained in the existing 13-Ward Plan.

The Citizens of Kingston must decide HOW MUCH REPRESENTATION they want and cast a NO vote on the 11-Ward proposal on June 19, 1973.

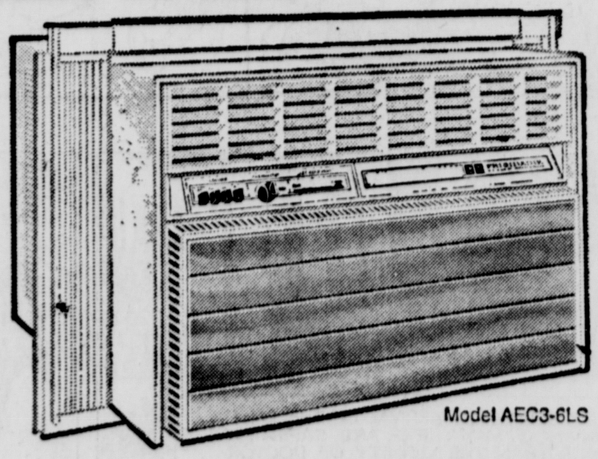

Respectfully submitted for your information and consideration
TITUS (Bernie) SIMS
Alderman (R.)—13th Ward

BONUS GIFTS®

SSS BONUS GIFTS®

HERE'S HOW BONUS GIFTS POINTS WORK...

1. Shop Grand Union for the dozens of famous brand products that give Bonus Gifts points all year 'round. Every point is worth one Stamp!

2. Save the Bonus Gifts points (usually blue) packed on or in participating brands.

VALUE Worth 5 trading stamps (or 9-10 cent) when redeemed as part of a full BONUS GIFTS order. Does not reduce product's retail price.
CONDITIONS: Redemptions limited by [illegible] local law (e.g. only cash in Wash. Wis. Wyo.) Void where prohibited (e.g. Kans.) Expires Dec. 31 1976
